Gentry W. Lowe, Carrollton Ill., and Pfc. Leonard Brown, St. Joseph Mo., both were injured severely at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in a car accident about a mile north of Versallles on Highway 5, near the Francis Fewell farm.

Brown suffered a fractured pelvis and was taken to the Gunn Clinic in Versailles. Lowe received a laceration on the head and broken ribs. He was taken to the Latham Hospital in California, Mo., in the Gene Allee ambulance.

Lowe, who was enroute to Versailles, was born and raised in Tipton and arrived there Friday night to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe. He is county superintendent of schools in Green County, Ill.

Ft. Leonard Wood authorities are enroute to Versailles to get Brown, who recently returned from Korea.

Rucker, Pat Brown, Lanny Benson, Gary Johnson; front row, Jim Swafford, Eddie Rucker, Donald Hofheins and Craig Brougher. Another boy in the group is Clay M. Hold Pettis Jail Escapees In New Mexico

Leroy Pearsall, 20, and William Westcott, 21, escaped prisoners from the Pettis County jail, have been apprehended at Warren, Ariz., while the third escapee, Marvin Powers, 20, is still at large. The two are being held at Albuquerque, N. M., by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with violation of the Dyer Act, transporting a motor vehicle from one state to another.

Picked up with Pearsall and Westcott was Dona Anna Westcott, wife of William.

Pearsall, Wescott and Powers all escaped at the same time, about midnight Oct. 6, by breaking through the roof of the county jail. The trio contacted Westcott's wife and Power's wife. They are believed to have stolen a 1948 Frazer sedan belonging to Eugene Waterfield, 501½ South Engineer.

Several leads had been received of the group which kept law enforcement officers checking until their apprehension in Arizona.

Pearsall was being held for authorities in Coudersport, Pa., on a forgery charge. He escaped the night authorities arrived in Sedalia to take him back.

Westcott was held on a second degree forgery charge. His home is at Hale, Mo.

Powers was held for Kansas authorities in connection with being a parole violator from that state. He resided at 421 East Third at the time of his being picked up by authorities here.

Moulder Holds 597-Vote Edge Over Schwabe

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Democratic Rep. Morgan Moulder held a 597-vote lead today over former Rep. Max Schwabe, Republican, with seven counties yet to report the absentee vote totals.

The vote was Moulder 71,939, Schwabe 71,342.

Moulder held a 1,119-vote margin when complete unofficial returns from the regular vote in the 17-county district were tabulated.

Moulder, of Camdenton, and Schwabe, of Columbia, have tangled before. Schwabe served three terms in the House but was defeated by Moulder in 1948 and again in 1950.

According to a late Associated Press dispatch, just before Democrat-Capital presstime, Moulder's lead had grown to 893 votes.

Eight Sedalia Scouts To Get Eagle Awards Monday Night

Annual District Meeting and Honor Court Will Be Held at S-C Cafeteria

The Pettis District Boy Scout annual meeting will be held on Monday evening at the Smith-Cotton cafeteria. It will be a covered-dish dinner as in the past with coffee and milk being provided by the district committee.

Windsor Native Is Executive Vice-President of Katy Lines

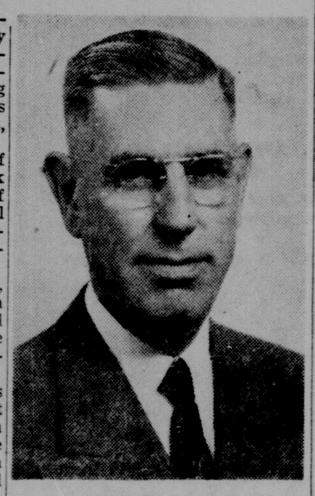

J. T. Mahaney, a native of Windsor, has been named to the newly created post of executive vice-president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Company, being elevated to that position from his former position as vice-president, accounting and finance.

The action came at a meeting of the board of directors this week when the office of chairman of the board was abolished and all chief executive functions were assigned to the Katy president, Donald V. Fraser.

Mahaney was born July 4, 1892, in Windsor, and attended high school there, entering railroad service in 1910 as a clerk in the accounting department of the Midland Valley at Muskogee, Okla.

In 1913 he went to the Katy as a clerk and special accountant at St. Louis. He then went to Wichita Falls, Tex., as auditor for the Wichita Falls and Northwestern Railway, a Katy subsidiary, and in 1918 returned to St. Louis, becoming auditor the next year.

He was made general auditor in May 1945, and comptroller in November of the same year. He was made vice-president, accounting and finance, in May 1947. He is a member of the Missouri Athletic Club, the Glen Echo Country Club, Comptrollers' Institute, and the Baptist Church. Mahaney is married and resides in St. Louis.

Experts See End In Korea

Military Men Feel Ike Will Increase UN's Efforts There

TOKYO, Nov. 8 (AP) — Military men out here hope that, after one look at the sorry Korean stalemate, President-elect Eisenhower will decide to end it by increasing the Allied forces and whipping the Reds.

These same competent military leaders who obviously cannot be named, acknowledge that such a course would be costly, but note that all the casualties would not have to be borne by Americans. They hope for an increase in the United Nations forces with soldiers available close at hand.

The armistice talks at Panmunjom are as dead as last week's comics—and about as interesting.

The months of haggling over the prisoner of war exchange have allowed the Chinese and North Korean Communists to dig in so deeply and move up so many supplies that the forces Gen. Mark W. Clark now commands would not be able to break through their lines.

Cover-Up Hinders Planes

But by increasing that force and flushing the enemy out into the open where planes of Gen. O. P. Weyland's Far East Air Force could get in their best licks, the present stalemate could be turned into a war of maneuver.

A war of maneuver is exactly what the Communists do not want.

American and other United Nations forces in Korea haven't staged a major offensive since Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of defense, visited Korea in 1951.

That's when, high U. S. officers believe, the decision was made to stop fighting and try talking.

However, the talking worked to the enemy's advantage and gave him a chance to build up.

It is wrong to think that the President-elect would make any major decision regarding the armistice talks at this time. The issue of prisoner exchange has passed from this command to a diplomatic level at the United Nations.

But, as President, Eisenhower could make three military decisions which could put the Communists back in a mood for talking mighty quick, officers here think.

The Three Decisions

They are:

1. Bolster the infantry of Gen. James A. Van Fleet's Eighth Army with several divisions from Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa.

2. Increase the number of Republic of Korea forces now holding more than one-half the frigid front.

3. Then order a major offensive, perhaps as early as next spring.

It has been felt in the past that use of Chiang Kai-shek forces in Korea would merely transplant the Chinese war to Korea and thereby increase the complications.

But sources here now wonder if that is not a risk that will have to be taken.

Taft Foresees No Cabinet Post

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio intends to remain in the Senate for the next four years, he said today when asked if he expected a cabinet appointment from President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Taft, who contested Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination and later campaigned for him, had been mentioned in speculation as a cabinet possibility.

The Ohioan told newsmen at Grand Central Station that he intends to see Eisenhower on legislative matters.

NEARS 99TH BIRTHDAY—Mrs. Mary Wild, 1504 South Osage, will be 99 years old on Tuesday, Nov. 11. She is planning on a big birthday, she isn't certain just what, but it will be a good one—her birthdays always are. And, of course, she is still young enough to enjoy them. In fact she enjoys everything. She is still making pretty things, crocheting and embroidering, and last week she went up to Kansas City to spend a few days.

Tragedies Prevent La Monte Reunion Of Three Sisters

LA MONTE — Mrs. George Martin looked forward to a happy visit with her two sisters from California when they arrived here Sept. 29, but it seems that fate planned it otherwise.

First, one visiting sister, Mrs. Bessie Martin, had an emergency operation and is now recuperating here.

Last Friday, the other sister, Mrs. Wesley Horr, received word that her daughter, Mrs. Carroll Mulkey, had died when her home was destroyed by fire. She had entered the house in search of her little boy and the burning house collapsed on her. The child was safely outside all the while. She is also survived by her husband and two other children.

Mrs. Horr flew back to California Sunday night, and was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Don Russell of Kansas City.

Fighting Ebbs After Barrage In Korea War

SEOUL, Sunday, Nov. 9 (AP) — Fighting on the bitterly contested Korean Central Front ebbed to the lowest point in 26 days late Saturday. The furious cannonade of Allied and Chinese Communist artillery fell off sharply.

For the moment at least neither South Korean troops manning the front lines nor Chinese Communists holding key heights appeared ready to resume their fearsome slugging match—one of the costliest battles of the war.

Front line dispatches said there was less activity in the Triangle Hill-Sniper Ridge sector than at any time since the battle began with an Allied offensive Oct. 14. Only small patrol actions were reported elsewhere.

Allied fighter-bombers, however, made hammer blow attacks on Red artillery and mortars in the ridges north of Kumhwa, flying 73 sorties against the Chinese.

U. S. Assistant Secretary of State John Allison made a quick trip to the front Saturday on the last leg of his tour of the Far East.

Another high Washington official, Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg, who is in charge of manpower, arrived and attended a night tactical briefing at Gen. James A. Van Fleet's Eighth Army headquarters. Earlier in the day she inspected Navy men aboard the battleship Missouri and the aircraft carrier Kearsage.

Need Cloudbursts To Fill Rain Quota

LAMAR, Mo., Nov. 8 (AP)— It will take a few cloudbursts and then some to give Lamar its normal quota of rain for the year.

Mrs. Marie Mann, who keeps records for the weather bureau here, says Lamar will need 27 inches of rain the rest of the year to give the city its annual average of 48.25 inches. October's rainfall amounted to only .20.

Crossroads Comment

By G. H. S.

Like Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Truman and later Adlai Stevenson constantly carried a cudgel to wield on newspapers during the campaign. They charged, without basis of fact, that newspapers were biased and unfair, and did not give the Fair Deal proper coverage of campaign news. Most of the accusations were insolent persiflage.

In this election at least, the Truman - Stevenson - Sparkman campaign was really "covered." Newspapers, smarting under the jibes of Fair Deal leaders, leaned over backwards to report their speeches. The Associated Press in a mid-compaign check of 100 newspapers found: "In effect, the Democrats had a pronounced edge, principally because the Truman whistle-stop tour challenged both Stevenson and Eisenhower for top headline attention. Little attention was given Taft."

And so it was all through the campaign; the newspaper gave the breaks to the Democrats and let them tell their story.

Perhaps because the newspapers told the story so liberally, the voters became aware of the ridiculous arguments for retention of a corrupt party in power and decided to do something about it.

Harry give 'em hell—the newspapers. The newspapers gave complete coverage. And the results, we now have. Newspaper coverage complained about, when given liberally, backfired on the Fair Dealers.

Hunting, Fishing Ban Still On, However

Showers Put End To Long Drought; Cut Fire Hazard

By The Associated Press

Rain, from light to heavy showers, came to Missouri Saturday to put the first real dent in the months-long drought.

Conservation officials expressed the hope it might end the fire hazard by Sunday night and might bring an early end to Gov. Forrest Smith's ban on hunting, fishing and other outdoor sports that could increase the fire danger.

The ban on turkey shoots and shooting matches already has been lifted. But any person conducting such matches is made responsible for any fire loss on adjacent land. That slight relaxation in interpretation of the ban came after a meeting between the governor and Conservation Commissioner Director I. T. Bode.

Bill Towell, assistant state forester, said Saturday night he hoped the forestry division would have the ban on hunting and fishing lifted. Towell said Saturday's rains already have taken a lot of the "heat" of Missouri's weary fire fighters. The forestry division reported that in state protected timber districts the loss from fire through drought-ridden October has been held to about 61,223 acres of forestland and 11,224 acres of grassland. Other forest fires broke out in national forests, too.

The loss for the first eight days of November has not been totaled. But it has been small.

The governor issued his proclamation Oct. 31. Since then forestry division men and aroused Missourians who volunteered to help on the firelines have been able to keep most fires from spreading beyond a few acres.

Quail Hunters Not Hurt, Yet

The ban, so far, has affected only fishing and waterfowl hunting. No small game hunting has been affected, until now, because there is a usual regulation against such hunting from the first to the tenth of November.

But Monday the quail season was supposed to begin. The rain could end the ban in time for the quail season to start on schedule. With it the rabbit and squirrel seasons would be re-opened, too.

And the three-day gun season on whitetail deer in Missouri, scheduled at first to be from Nov. 6 through Nov. 8, probably will be re-scheduled as soon as the ban is lifted. The commission hopes, also, to be able to refund fees to deer hunters who bought license tags but won't be able to ues them in a later season.

To help waterfowl hunters, Director Bode has asked the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service to extend the Missouri season by the number of days hunters have lost due to the Missouri ban.

Season May Be Extended

That means, if the federal officials agree, the season would be extended beyond Dec. 13, perhaps the number of duck hunting days lost during the state ban.

Meanwhile, commission officials, newspaper offices and radio stations have been deluged by letters and telephone calls. Some were bitter, but most just asked for an early end to the ban.

One fellow said he didn't see that there was any danger of a river bar burning up. He wrote Bode that the best of the duck season in Missouri already has been lost because of the governor's proclamation.

Saturday afternoon and night, after rains started coming down in Northeastern, Eastern and Central Missouri, the calls took on an even more pleading—and even threatening in some cases-tone. One St. Louis hunter called to say it was raining like "Billy heck" down there and he wanted to go shoot some ducks.

The answer was the same for all. The ban has not been lifted—but may be soon.

Senator Asks Ike To Boost US Stand On Korean Truce

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) today urged President-elect Eisenhower to send a representative to the U.N. General Assembly quickly to back the American position on the Korean truce talks.

The Assembly is stalled because of uncertainty over Eisenhower's views on many key questions, Wiley said in a statement. The American delegation, named by President Truman, is regarded as a lame duck group, the senator said.

Wiley, who was appointed by Truman as a delegate to the Assembly, issued the statement from his office here. He is in line to be chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee in the new Senate.

Riots Cause 5 Deaths In South Africa City

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police opened fire on rioters in an African housing suburb in the diamond city of Kimberly today, killing five persons and wounding 16.

The rioting is still going on and authorities expressed fear that the casualties would increase in number before order is restored.

Clouds Hold More Rainfall For This Area

By The Associated Press

A gentle rain soaked a narrow band of territory from Topeka, Kan., eastward to St. Louis Saturday and the forecaster offered hope for more drought-breaking showers late today.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau said the Saturday rains were produced by a front that reached into Oklahoma and swung eastward Saturday night. Another front is moving in from the Southwest and should bring rain today. Temperatures may drop to near freezing and produce snow.

Saturday's heaviest amounts were .34 inch at Topeka, .25 at Kansas City, .23 at Columbia, Mo., and Chanute, Kan., and .16 at St. Louis, the weather bureau said.

Emporia, Kan., got .11 inch and Butler, Mo., .14, with traces reported at Salina and Wichita in Kansas.

Northward from the main rain belt the amounts tapered off to .03 inch at St. Joseph, Mo.

It was the first measurable rain at Topeka since .04 inch fell Oct. 5.

Rain started falling Saturday night at Coffeyville, Sedan and Oswego in southeastern Kansas. McPherson reported .10 inch, the first rain there in 48 days.

Rain started to fall Saturday night at Joplin, Mo. By 9 p.m. it measured .44 of an inch. The city's last appreciable amount of rain was .11 of an inch, on Oct. 5.

Air Force Official Speaks Monday At Meeting Here

The luncheon meeting, which is being sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at Bothwell Hotel, is important to Sedalians because it deals with the housing of people from the Sedalia Air Force Base.

If Sedalia does not have the housing it will not have the people and it is very necessary that business men as well as all interested in housing, and those in building trades, be at this meeting.

Chester A. Brown, executive manager of the Champer of Commerce, has received a call from Col. Hal McCord in Omaha telling him he and Robert H. Richards, the speaker, will fly to the Sedalia Air Force Base Sunday night and, with Col. Leonard S. Flo and his staff, will be at the meeting Monday noon.

Mr. Richards, who is assistant secretary of the Air Force in Omaha telling him he and Robert H. Richards, the speaker, will fly to the Sedalia Air Force Base Sunday night and, with Col. Leonard S. Flo and his staff, will be at the meeting Monday noon.

Mr. Richards, who is assistant secretary of the Air Force in charge of family housing at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C., will talk on the housing project and will answer questions.

Mr. Brown feels that there is no time to waste, there has been much activity at the base during the nice weather and Sedalia must not be caught with people coming in, in great numbers with no place to live. Citizens of Sedalia should acquaint themselves with what is taking place, what the needs are and what must be done immediately.

The meeting is being held jointly with the Rotary Club meeting which is held each Monday.

Finally, It Dood it

The weatherman has ended his sit-down strike. Saturday, after taking most of the day to make up his mind, he finally allowed the drops to drip through the overcast sky. It wasn't much—at least not yet—but it did measure .13 inch up to 6 p. m. Saturday.

That rain, added with all other five dribbles that have fallen, brought to .89 the total rainfall in Sedalia since the day of the tornado at the fairgrounds—Aug. 21.

The Weather

Mostly cloudy and colder Sunday, occasional light rain southeast, northerly winds 20-25 miles an hour; mostly cloudy and continued cold Sunday night and Monday with occasional light rain or snow likely west and north; highs Sunday near 40 north to 50 south.

Books to Aid Handyman Being Featured at Library This Week

Books to aid the home handyman are being featured by the Sedalia Public Library this week, with a new volume, "Everyday Household Appliance Repairs," by William H. Crouse, heading the list.

Beginning with concise, simple explanations of the fundamentals of electricity, Mr. Crouse goes on to discuss numerous home appliances such as electric clocks, fans, irons, refrigerators, sewing machines, radio and television sets, toasters, etc. Chapters on house wiring and fundamentals of trouble-shooting and repairing give the reader the necessary basic principles he needs for jobs of upkeep and repair.

For a special problem which often afflicts house owners, the library offers a new book, "How to Waterproof Your Basement," by George A. O'Brien, who is a professional waterproofer. Since wet cellars are caused by conditions outside the basement walls, the author tells in detail how to find and remedy the cause of wet cellars.

A standard book of reference on almost any household problem is "First Aid for the Ailing House," by Roger B. Whitman. Its detailed suggestions, sketches and plans for keeping a house in good condition are based on Mr. Whitman's answers to more than sixty thousand questions received from home owners writing to his widely syndicated column in the New York Sun.

"Planning Your Home Workshop" from the Popular Mechanics Craftsman's Library, is designed for both veteran craftsmen and beginners, and contains complete instructions for setting up the ideal workshop for your particular needs.

A number of books are available for the home craftsman on the art of repairing or making furniture: "Master Homecraft Projects," by Raeth: "Making Your Home Furnishings," by Di Bernardo, and "Klenke's Furniture Book." In addition, the Library has "The Complete Book of Furniture Repair and Refinishing," by Kinney, which gives accurate, step-by-step directions for every single kind of job you might want to tackle. Secondly, Mr. Kinney covers the restoration of all kinds of furniture, from priceless antiques to the stock unpainted furniture sold in stores.

For a "good book" tip, the Library's recommendation this week is "Miss Abby Fitch-Martin," by Kathryn Loughlin. Miss Loughlin's autobiography tells of a childhood spent under the care of a maiden aunt whose subtle cruelties add up to psycopathy.

Library Has New Movies

The Sedalia Public Library has received its November group of 16 mm. sound films. They are available to any club, school, PTA, church or social group wishing to use them. Reservations may be made by phoning 1314 if more convenient.

Coffin Is Traffic Hazard

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP) — A Fire Prevention Week exhibit in front of the central fire station has been removed because it was considered a traffic hazard.

The exhibit was a coffin with this sign: "This might be yours if you smoke in bed."

Fire Chief Francis Mannion said so many motorists "stared at the coffin bug-eyed that they forgot to be careful."

LaMonte Has Meet to Plan Fire Fighting

By Mrs. Earl Horton

LA MONTE — A good crowd attended the meeting Wednesday night at La Monte's Town Hall, held for the purpose of organizing the townspeople and surrounding farmers into a Fire Association.

L. M. Littlefield was appointed temporary chairman, and a number of solicitors were named to canvas La Monte Special Road District for members. Tentative plans were made for membership fees, and for charges to be made for fire calls to the farms of non-members.

A permanent organization will be set up later, which will be incorporated, and a governing board will be elected.

The group plans to buy a tank fire truck, equipped with a pump which will make it possible to fill the tank from any available source of water, and which will provide up to 500 pounds of pressure.

J. D. Pollock, of a fire apparatus firm, represented his company at the meeting, giving advice and information concerning necessary equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCullough and children, Preston, Michael, Mary Kay and Pat of Bartlesville, Okla., visited Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. McCullough's aunts, Mrs. Luella McCune and Mrs. Emma Kerby. They were enroute to Elkhart, Ind., where they will visit a few days with friends. Mrs. McCullough will be remembered as Margaret Duke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Duke, of Meeker, Okla.

Miss Daisy Kemp of Kansas City visited in La Monte over the week-end.

At Guam they join their husband and father, Lt. Frank B. Long Jr., who is on the staff of the U. S. Navy Hospital there.

Miss Edith Berthoux, Native Sedalian, Back for Visit from Indonesia Mission

By Hazel Lang

A brown eyed young woman is back in the United States for a year from a strange land. Java, Indonesia, but to her, her own land is strange, the language is strange, and so are ideas, the way of living, even the way people receive the word of the gospel, for it is the gospel she teaches.

The girl is Miss Edith C. Berthoux, native Sedalian. Her mother is Mrs. Julia Spears, 213 East Second. Her father is Walter Berthoux of Johnston City, Ill.

It was after she was out of high school and had started working that Edith received the call. That was seven years ago, and her first mission was to the city of Semarang, where the only white people are the people in her mission and missions of other faiths, or those there with big oil companies, tobacco companies and the American Counsel.

The language spoken there is Malay, a simple language that was not hard to learn and, except for the few times when only the Americans are together alone, she speaks nothing else. "I have to stop and think," says Edith. "I keep wanting to talk Malay all the time. I have only been back here three weeks and I have a little trouble remembering my English." But this is her story:

Are Primitive People

Semerang has a population of about a million people, and there is located the mission house where seven missionaries have their headquarters and about 20 native workers stay. The natives have the simplest form of life, they live just one day to the next, she says. If you do something for them they want to do something for you — they are very appreciative.

Edith, like all the missionaries, has a bicycle and she rides to the villages around Semarang and visits in the homes.

Being white she is looked up to and the natives feel that they are duty bound to return the visit in appreciation, so they visit the mission and then another call is made to the home and the natives go again to the mission and they like it so they keep going. They are very receptive to the gospel — the story of Christianity is new to them and they accept it with great faith. They believe.

The people are very primitive, but are peace loving. When Edith went over there in 1946 the war was still on. Under Dutch rule they gained their independence in 1945, worked with the Dutch until 1950 when they were to have complete Independence, then kept some Dutch advisors until 1952 and now want the Dutch out. They are very bitter about the Dutch and now have a president — and a White House — smaller than the White House in Washington, but nevertheless a White House.

Use America As Pattern

They have received loans and aid from America and are friendly toward this nation, in fact, they are trying to pattern after the Americans and Edith smiled as she added that some of the things they patterned were not too good. Strikes, for instance — recently the bus company had a sit-down strike. The bus business is a rather complicated affair. There is a bus driver and a conductor who takes up the fares. Then there is a checker who checks the conductor and as the bus goes along there is another checker who checks the checker, and finally another checker gets on up the line to check everybody — and still the bus company frequently gets cheated.

When Edith first went there the Dutch shelled the inland from the sea and there were riots in the inland. One time there was fighting in their own yard at a time when all the men of the mission were away and only the girls were there.

Edith got behind the headboard of her bed and stayed there all night, with windows on either side of her where the fighting was going on just outside. There was no glass in the windows, only shutters, and she was very frightened.

Few Vegetables There

At the mission, she said, they live a semi native life, eat native food which is mostly rice but she likes the rice. They do not have many vegetables because the vegetables grown are very small. The first thing she wanted when she got to the United States was a good old American hamburger. The soil there is not fertile, irrigation is primitive and there is no machinery and so the principal thing grown and eaten is the rice which they steam.

The natives cook on small charcoal stoves out in the open and can cook only one thing at a time. They squat down as they cook.

The native women wear sarongs and their blouses are called kabaja, but the young girls are getting them now to wear dresses.

The markets are strange places, where you buy everything. First they have the meat, then the vegetables, then the garlic and such and then the clothes which come out with rather odd odors—you have to smell them to appreciate them — or maybe not appreciate them. They like red peppers, too, these natives, and eat a lot of them.

Good Education System

The educational system, with a grade and high school, is very good — it was under the Dutch, but is now run by the natives.

The native houses are bamboo or clay tile with the better ones brick and plaster.

Some of the many plantations are now back in operation. They are rubber, coffee, tea and tobacco plantations.

There are offices in which natives are employed and a highly paid native girl in an office gets about $25 a month.

Railroads Old, Slow

The government owns the railroads and the transportation is a bit slow — to go 150 miles you start at 9 o'clock in the morning and if the train is on time you will get there about 7 o'clock that night — if the train is late it might be midnight. The old wood burner engines pull obsolete coaches and if you are a first class passenger you get a seat — such as it is — and travel in style. If you are a second class passenger you also get a seat, but if you are a third class passenger you sit on the arm of the seat occupied by the second class passengers and lean on them.

Every now and then somebody slips out a quarter mile of track and if they discover it in time the train stops and the track is fixed — if they don't discover it in time the train is derailed.

There are Mohammedans, Christians, Christian Chinese and idol worshipers.

Some Are Communists

There is Communism among some of the Chinese but they are divided. Many Chinese are not Communists. None of the natives are Communists.

The Chinese women and girls, Edith said, are very skillful in making clothes. They can fit a piece of paper to you, cut it to your measurements for a pattern and make a dress like any picture they are shown. Some of the native girls are also learning to make clothes.

One of the girls Edith is particularly fond of is a Chinese, just about her size and exactly her age. They were room mates and had a lot of fun — they had much in common, she said.

At the mission the visits to the sick and native homes are made in the morning, but the heat of the afternoon is too intense to get out. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon they have services but never services at night—it is not safe to be out because of bandits.

The diseases there are mostly smallpox, tuberculosis and tropical diseases. The natives don't like doctors because they are afraid of them — so they try their own remedies until they find they just won't work. For a tropical sore they will put on clay then leaves and if the sore gets too bad they go to a doctor.

Dutch Must Leave

When Edith was very ill over there an Indo - Dutch woman took care of her and couldn't have taken better care if she had been her mother, she said. What will happen to the woman she doesn't know because all Dutch are to be out of there by 1954.

The Mohammedans go to the mosque to be married and get their divorces just as easy. The men have to be a little more certain that they get the women they want these days, they can now only have four legal wives — they used to be permitted seven — if they could support them.

The Chinese have a big ceremony for their weddings, but there is one bad feature — they must have a wedding feast and if they can't afford a feast — no wedding. The ceremony takes place in the court house and all the minister has to do with it is to give the blessing.

Bury Dead Sitting Up

When there is a death the Mohammedans take the body out in a cot with a frame over it, which is covered with cloth, and men carry it to the grave on their shoulders. The body is buried in a sitting position.

The Christian burial is the same as here except there is no embalming.

Edith, who is a missionary of the United Pentecostal Church, has her headquarters in St. Louis, but America is no longer hers — she doesn't belong here any more. She wanted to come home to see her family again — but she wants to go back, for her heart is back there spreading the gospel to the natives who want to hear it. And so, this little girl who has only been here three weeks, and has been around the world, going half way around on her journey over and coming back around the other half, is even now thinking about going back — back to a different kind of world, a different kind of people — a different kind of life — one with hardships and sacrifices — but one with satisfaction in doing the work she loves.

Every American, says Edith, should have to leave the United States for six months and they would be glad to live here — and that is something Americans might think over — it is a wonderful thing to be able to live in America.

'Friend of the Boy'—

Optimist Club Observes Week, Points In Pride to Boys Work

This week the Sedalia Optimist Club joins with some 800 other Optimist Clubs to celebrate Optimist Week, Nov. 9 to 15.

The Optimists are an organization of 40,000 men, members of Optimist Clubs of the Western Hemisphere, the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Puerto Rico, who have as their slogan, "Friend of the Boy." These clubs have as their prime objective the development of youth as "Better Leaders of Tomorrow."

Charles Hanna, president of the Sedalia Optimist Club, announced that the theme for this year's 34th observance of Optimist Week is, "Every Boy Needs a Helping Hand." Mr. Hanna went on to say that the Sedalia Optimist Club is proud to have joined with Optimists everywhere in giving that helping hand to local youth through the youth program of the Sedalia club.

He called attention to the Opti-Camp, a cabin where boys of the community are given regular outings, the Junior Optimists Clubs, the annual boys' basketball tournament, the annual Democrat-Capital carrier boys' Christmas party, the Junior Optimist oratorical contest, and the sponsoring next year of a team in the Little League baseball program. These and many such activities bring the men of the Optimist Club into close comradeship with many boys of the community.

"Optimist Week," Mr. Hanna said, "should not pass without our thanking our many friends and neighbors for the necessary financial assistance and the splendid spirit of cooperation in our endeavor to give the youth of Sedalia a chance to be better leaders of tomorrow.

"These fine people, while not actually members of our club, certainly have the spirit of Optimism, which we are trying to spread."

Optimist Club members are practical, intelligent business and professional men who are genuinely trying to make our world a better place in which to live. They have a set of objectives which are inspiring:

"To internationally develop Optimism as a philosophy of life. To promote an active interest in good government and civic affairs; to inspire respect for law; to promote partiotism and work for international accord and friendship among all people. To aid and encourage the development of youth throughout the world."

The Optimist Creed sets forth the philisiphy of Optimism in ten principles. The creed is a fine guide to everyday living. Anyone interested may secure a copy of the Optimist Creed by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Sedalia club secretary, Rev. J. W. Watts, 114 West Third, Sedalia.

Sedalians Attend MFA Meeting on Plans For Firm Expansions

H. L. Crow and L. W. Satterwhite of Sedalia attended a meeting in Columbia of MFA managers and field personnel to discuss proposed MFA expansion plans.

The MFA expansion program calls for the building of high analysis fertilizer plant near Joplin; the installation of anhydrous ammonia facilities in those sections of the state where the demand for nitrogen is most acute; the completion of the refinery expansion at Memphis, Tenn.; the construction of a terminal elevator at Louisiana, Mo., with both barge and railroad loading facilities; the enlargement of the home office building in Columbia to make more room for offices of MFA Mutual Insurance Company; the development of western phosphate reserves and numerous other smaller projects.

Steal 10 Turkeys From Syracuse Farm

Someone got into the turkey house of Mrs. Anna Fry, Syracuse, about 3 a.m. Friday and stole 10 turkeys which were ready for the Thanksgiving market. Mrs. Fry was awakened by the barking of the dog and then heard the turkeys making a fuss. She called a neighbor, R. E. Hutchison, and when he arrived and investigated he found the turkeys scattered about the lot.

Good Friday, the Friday before Easter, probably is a corruption of "God's Friday," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Haul Water For Stock

There seems to be no relief from the dry weather in sight here. Many in this vicinity are now finding it necessary to haul water for their stock.

Mrs. Don Hedrick reports they are hauling water for 50 head of stock and pumping it by hand. Others are shifting stock to various pastures on their farms where ponds are still providing water. In spite of the dry weather, J. P Scott, says he marketed more than $300 worth of fine lespedeza seeds which he completed combining last week in addition to a goodly number of pounds kept for his own planting. Corn crops are also good.

Make Much Sorghum

Mrs. Orville Dukes and daughter made over 300 gallons of sorghum which they found a ready market for at $2.25 per gallon.

According to word received by relatives here from Pfc. Billie McFarland, he arrived in Japan and is now stationed in Seoul, Korea.

Red Cross Plans Next Blood Drive

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Pettis County chapter, Red Cross, was held at the office last Thursday with the chapter chairman, J. H. Brunkhorst, presiding.

A meeting of the Red Cross blood program cooperating chapters will be held in Kansas City Nov. 13 at the Kansas City and Jackson County chapter headquarters. Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, chairman of the local program, with other representatives, will attend.

At that time, representatives from various chapters will be briefed on two particular subjects, recruiting and public information. An interesting point is that the meeting will be broken down as to quotas, those having 750 pints in one group, and those with more in the second group.

Moderator for the first will be Lt. Comdr. Frederic A. Wyatt, USNR, and the second will be directed by Randall Jesse and Shelby Stork of the Kansas City Star. Lt. Comdr. Wyatt is well equipped by personal experience to take over a job of this kind, as he has been active in the national blood program for some time and is at present, among other things, military advisor to the Armed Forces blood donor program operated by the Red Cross.

Gray Ladies to Work

November will be a full month for at least two of the Red Cross services, with gray ladies and nurse's aides on active duty at Bothwell Hospital. Mrs. Herbert Zoernig, chairman of nurse's aides announces the following of her service who will work: Mrs. Frank Armstrong, Mrs. W. T. Book, Mrs. George Chambers, Mrs. K. H. Eisert, Mrs. Irvin Lehmer, Mrs. W. T. Mateja, Mrs. Neal Reyburn, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, Mrs. C. E. Sheets and Mrs. Dick Van Dyne.

Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, chairman of gray ladies, has the following volunteers on her November schedule: Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Earl Gold, Mrs. Emmett Hurley, Mrs. Joe Menefee, Mrs. Nannie Meyers, Mrs. Das McClure, Mrs. J. E. Norlin, Mrs. Harley Vaughan, and Mrs. Everett Wing.

"Go to Battle in a Bottle!" That's the newest slogan for the Red Cross blood program. Prospective donors may call 618 and register now for the next visit of the bloodmobile, which will set up at the Armory, Ninth and Ohio, Dec. 5 and 6. "A pint of blood will be a grand Christmas present for a wounded boy in Korea," the Red Cross says.

Nitrate film, despite the fire and explosion risk, long has been used in commercial motion pictures because it produces better quality images than the safety acetate film standard for all 16-mm. home and amateur movies.

Charles Shull Suffers An Attack On Saturday

Charles Shull, 49, suffered a nervous attack while at his work for the Pfeiffer Floral Co., at its green house at Gasoline Alley on West Highway 50, shortly after noon Saturday. Shull was taken to the Bothwell Hospital where he was treated by Dr. D. R. Edwards and later taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. O. W. DeLapp, 1908 South Lamine.

When Shull suffered the attack he was alone. He crawled on his hands and knees to his automobile. He then was able to drive to the Brown Service Station across the road, where he got help. Shull was taken to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance.

100 Car Owners Here Equip Autos With Reflective Tape

More than 100 cars were supplied Saturday with the new reflective tape being issued by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Armory.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Ed Neighbors described the tape as "the most inexpensive life insurance that anyone could buy."

"It might very well save the life of someone on the highway if that person's automobile lights were to go out at night," he said. "The tape makes it easy to spot a car parked some distance ahead."

First driver to apply for the tape was Dr. J. R. Lee, dentist, at 8:25 a. m. Although the rain slowed activities Saturday afternoon a fairly steady stream of cars was serviced. Driver of the 100th car was Mrs. Leona Swope.

The tape, which is visible at a distance of half a mile and can be seen 75 per cent quicker than the average tail light, is being sold for one dollar a bumper. A five-foot strip of tape is being applied to the rear bumper. It will last about two years.

The Armory was open for service until 6 p. m. Saturday and will be open Sunday from 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Chief Neighbors' approval of the project was seconded by Chester A. Brown, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

"The Light-a-Bumper for Safety campaign of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce is one that deserves the support of the entire community," he said. "Safety on our streets and highways cannot be too highly stressed. The Chamber of Commerce wishes to cooperate wholeheartedly with the Jaycees in this undertaking."

The tape has already been applied to the bumpers of the City Police cars, Highway Patrol cars, company cars of the Sedalia Democrat and Missouri Public Service trucks.

The Sedalia project is part of a statewide Jaycee safety program. The tape was also issued in Virginia earlier this year.

League Urges Ike To Continue Policy Of Ag Conferences

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP) — The Cooperative League of the United States today adopted a resolution urging President-elect Eisenhower to continue a policy of having the Department of Agriculture confer with a committee on cooperatives.

The league, embracing some 30 organizations representing ten million families of farm and city wholesale cooperatives and insurance companies, concluded its three-day policy-making conference today.

Jerry Voorhis, executive director of the league and its official spokesman, said that several months ago the Department of Agriculture adopted a policy allowing a committee of cooperative representatives to review agriculture policies and offer suggestions to make them more effective. The league's resolution urges the new administration to continue this policy.

Youth Assumes Job As Iowa Indian Chief

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 8—(AP)—Jimmy Rhodd, 17-year-old St. Joseph high school student, will be formally made chief of the Ioway Indians as a part of a powwow to be held Tuesday at Horton, Kan.

The ceremony was to have been held here a year ago last month but Dan White Cloud, chief of the Ioway tribe, appeared and refused to give up his title, declaring he could not be forced to surrender the right.

Last spring the tribal commission adopted a resolution declaring the tribe without a chief on the grounds Dan White Cloud had lived in Oklahoma for a decade and had shown no interest in the tribe.

The commission also held that Louis White Cloud, Dan's eldest son, had registered as a member of another tribe at Wichita and could not claim membership in the Ioways.

Jimmy Rhodd is the great grandson of Jim White Cloud, who died in 1940 at the age of 100 after ruling for more than 60 years. The Ioway reservation is west of White Cloud, Kan.

McCarthy Girds For New Fight Against Graft

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)— The New York World-Telegram and Sun said today Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) will concentrate on graft and corruption instead of Communism when he returns to Washington in the 83rd Congress.

McCarthy told of his plans in a telephone interview with the newspaper from Phoenix, Ariz.

"Now," McCarthy said, "it will be unnecessary for me to conduct a one-man campaign to expose Communists in government. We have a new president who doesn't want any party-line thinkers or fellow-travelers. He will conduct the fight.

"Naturally I will give all the co-operation and evidence I have. But there is a tremendously different picture. I am no longer on the outside, butting my head against a stone wall of opposition."

McCarthy will be the ranking Republican on the Committee on Government Operations, until recently called the committee on expenditures in the executive department, and its Senate investigations subcommittee.

Both are charged with the duty of probing malfeasance and inefficiency, past or present, on the part of every individual on the executive payroll.

In a later statement made at Phoenix, McCarthy denied that he intended to ease his campaign against communism during his fight against graft and corruption. He said that "any conclusion that I shall not continue to interest myself deeply in the Communist menace is completely unwarranted."

Newlyweds Get Stove On Show; She's a Sedalian

Beverly Lien, daughter of Mrs. F. Fuentez, 323 East Harvey, and Richard Krieger, to whom she was married Saturday, Nov. 8, were on the Welcome Travelers show in Chicago Thursday, Nov. 6.

Mrs. Fuentez, who doesn't have a television, was disappointed that she did not get to see them, but friends called her, came to see her and wrote to her about the show. A friend from Kansas City wrote a description of the show, telling her both were in uniform, for both are in service. Beverly said she was from Sedalia, and that they received a gas stove and a five-day wedding trip to Colorado.

The wedding trip is perfect for right now, but the appreciation of the gas stove is going to have to come later, thinks Beverly's mother—right now they just can't use a gas stove. She is still in service and he is leaving soon for overseas—but there will be a time when they will get down to normal living and then they will need a gas stove.

Playhouse' Next Production Gave Author Troubles

"Finishing a play isn't any fun", declared Tom Taggart when questioned about his comedy which the Community Playhouse has chosen to present at the Smith-Cotton High School on Nov. 18 and 19.

"Everybody I contact thinks it's fun to write plays", Mr. Taggart said, "And I must agree with them enough to say that it's fun to begin a play when you've a clever idea and a group of unusual characters, but when they jerk the story out of your hands and rush themselves into a tangled plot which takes a world of sweat and wonder to get out of—then playwriting becomes merely hard work."

"Very Untruly Your" is the name of the play and that is the fourth title for this clever little comedy, which is the story of a college professor who writes stories at night for a confession magazine. First he called it "True Story", then he changed it to "The Plot Thickens" and then, because his pen name for the confession magazine was Annie Laurie, he called it "Annie Laurie — His Story"—and finally he gave up—and the unnamed manuscript became "Very Untruly Yours."

The comedy is three acts of funny situations and plenty of laughs.

Ike May Pick Sen. Millikin As Budget Man

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 8 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower awaited the arrival here tonight of Sen. Eugene Millikin, GOP financial specialist, amid reports the Coloradoan may serve as Eisenhower's liaison man in the Budget Bureau.

Millikin, flying from Denver to Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, is in line for the chairmanship of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee in the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress.

At present he is the senior GOP member of that powerful committee and also is chairman of the Senate Republican Conference, which includes all Republican senators.

Replying to a request by President Truman, Eisenhower announced last Wednesday—the day after his smashing victory at the polls—that he would name a personal representative to the Budget Bureau to sit in for preparation of the federal budget. It goes to Congress early in January, before Eisenhower's inauguration.

Other Selections to Come

Eisenhower also has notified Truman he will appoint representatives to the Defense and State Departments to serve during the interim until Jan. 20, when he will take the oath of office.

Eisenhower aides have indicated the appointments will be announced in a day or so.

There were signs, meanwhile, that the weekend might produce a full-blown conference here on problems confronting the new Republican administration.

In addition to quarters reserved for Millikin at the Bon Air Hotel, suites had been set aside for a group of unnamed guests whose arrival obviously was expected.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, told newsmen Millikin was on the way but he declined to say whether there would be others.

Hagerty Quiet On Role

Hagerty also shunted aside all questions on the role Millikin might be assigned. Asked specifically whether Millikin would be named to represent Eisenhower at the Budget Bureau, Hagerty replied:

"When we have an announcement to make, we will make it."

Hagerty issued a statement which he said was intended to clarify the status of the liaison men the President-elect will appoint to federal agencies. The statement said:

"Gen. Eisenhower possesses no authority of any kind until after he has taken the oath of office on inauguration day.

"Consequently, no one designated by him can have any authority except that of representing the personal views of Gen. Eisenhower.

"The chief function of the representatives he will appoint will be to obtain information for the general."

In effect, the statement said that any decisions made by any of the departments between now and Jan. 20 will be the responsibility of the Truman administration.

BUY YOUR NEXT CAR ON THE BASIS OF ITS RECORD...

It's the new way to choose a family car! On an equal basis, before the eyes of millions, American stock cars show what they have to offer prospective owners in terms of safety, durability and performance. Hudson's all-time record speaks for itself.

The features you want in your car, SAFETY, DURABILITY, PERFORMANCE, are proved in these unbiased tests!

ALMOST every week the make of car you drive is matched with America's other popular makes in stock-car races.

To date this year, Hudsons, just like those you can buy from us, have won 44 out of 52 stock-car races, an all-time record never even approached by any other make.

These victories show beyond question that Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design (with America's lowest center of gravity) gives you road-hugging stability no other car can touch. That's safety! They prove Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame* is the safest, strongest construction used in any car. That's durability!

Finally, this all-time record shows Hudson's high-compression engine has all the power that you'll ever need to get you out of tight spots. That's performance! Thus Hudson gives you more of what you need for your daily driving than does any other car.

So, stop in and see us. See how it feels to drive America's stock-car champion!

Thank Offering, In-Gathering Service Is Held

The annual Thank Offering and In-Gathering service was held Thursday at the meeting of the Women's Guild of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church. Mrs. Martin Burger, Jamestown, president of the Central Missouri Regional Women's Guild, spoke on the theme, "The First Fruits."

The speaker said "Truest gratitude is not concerned with inventory, but with gratitude for the small things, things which are too often taken for granted." She said that when one grasps the simple truth embodied in the passage of scripture, "They first gave themselves," it is easy to give the material gifts.

The Thank Offering service was led by Mrs. Lottie Meisenheimer, chairman of the department. Miss Esther Meisenheimer sang a solo, "Thanks." The in-gathering closed the service with each member depositing the year's material expression of her gratitude on the altar.

Food for the home for retired pastors at Blue Springs was placed around the base of the altar. Members of the guild plan to visit the home Nov. 16 and present the food.

Mrs. Hubert Smith, vice-president, presided over the business meeting and reported on the church member campaign which is underway to introduce the "Messenger," official publication of the denomination, into every home.

The spiritual life chairman, Mrs. Elmer Maune, gave a report of the retreat held for guild members in October, saying that its success was not dependent upon the number participating, but upon the spirit of those attending. Her assistant, Mrs. Harold Tomlin, sent 29 cards to church members during the last two months.

Mrs. Tom Gray Jr., stewardship chairman, reviewed the contents of the article written by George Scruton, to the effect that in order to live with onesself "You should be yourself and then dedicate self to others."

Various reports were given by the chairman.

A new circle, for the benefit of business women and others who find it more convenient to attend a night meeting, was formed in October at the home of Mrs. W. G. Borne' with 11 charter members. The name selected was the Rebecca Circle.

Proposed revisions in the constitution were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ernest Liebel.

Christmas boxes will be sent to service men of the church.

Refreshments will be served to consistory men attending the area meeting to be held at Immanuel Church Nov. 15 at 7:45 p.m. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss improvements in church organization.

IN YOKOSUKA—Robert G. England, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. England, 1622 South Sneed, who is stationed at Yokosuka, has been in the Navy since March 6. He telephoned his parents one night the past week. The 20-year-old youth passed his seaman first class test and wanted to tell them about it. He wanted to hear their voices, too. The day the call came in Mr. and Mrs. England had just received a long, descriptive letter from their son in which he said the natives live in houses made of mud and sticks and they eat with sticks. Mr. and Mrs. England have another son in the Navy, John Edward, who is in Adak, Alaska. He is fireman and electrician mate.

Old Coins

Gold Pieces Not So Well Known; Have High Value

By Bill Hert

Many people of college age today have never handled or seen gold coins, yet they were minted until 1933. When the United States went off the gold standard, by an act of Congress, all persons having gold coins were required to turn them in to a Federal Reserve Bank, or branch, on or before May 1, 1933.

However, one of the sections of this act, and one that is not known to many people today, was that, an individual was allowed to keep, up to but not exceeding, one hundred dollars face value of these coins. Also, the executive order permitted recognized coin collectors to possess and acquire gold coins.

To a great extent, by the before mentioned, and the one exception to the premium value of coins mentioned in previous articles, all gold coins are worth a premium today, regardless of date or the mint in which they were made.

In addition to this premium factor, there is a still further premium, in all denominations, owing to the small number of pieces coined in a particular year or mint, as is true of any coin.

The most familiar and common of these gold coins were: the $2.50, $5, $10 and $20 denominations. Prior to 1933 these could be obtained at any bank in any amount. Other denominations of gold coins, though not as common, were $1, $3, $4 and $50 pieces, and even a gold quarter and half dollar were made. Next week's column will discuss these old issues.

Years ago, more men carried purses and gold pieces weren't as easily lost or handed out for silver as might be imagined. The $10 gold piece became known as an "eagle," thus the $20 piece was called a double-eagle, the $5 a half eagle and the $2.50 a quarter eagle. Some of the greatest rarities in United States coins are in the gold series.

A $5 gold piece of 1822 is worth in excess of $10,000 and such dates as 1827, 1828, 1829, are in the one to three thousand dollar class, per coin.

The $2.50 gold pieces were coined from 1796 to 1929; $5 from 1795 to 1929; $10 from 1795 to 1933 and the $20 denomination, 1849 through 1933. Gold coins further have the distinction of being struck in the most U. S. mints, seven, of any of our coins. Two of these, Charlotte, N. C., and Dahlonega, Ga., were mints established only for gold coins.

Church Women Observe World Community Day

"Building Lasting Peace" was the theme of the World Community Day observance held Friday at the Congregational-Presbyterian Federated Church.

A panel of church women discussed "The Christian Woman's Action Program for World Peace," using as the basis of their discussion the five-point declaration of United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in USA.

Mrs. William Lamm said in discussing point 1 that "we should strengthen and use our spiritual resources" and because of this belief "should pray that we may be used for peace."

Mrs. Luther Landis, president of the Sedalia Council, which sponsored the observance, spoke on the second point which expresses the belief that "this nation under God can be a Christian democracy" if we will live democracy in our home town every day. She said that society must respect the God-given rights of all men as set for in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Mrs. Charles Alden, in discussing point 3, said that next to the churches, today's best instrument for peace is the United Nations. She recommended that it be studied and supported.

Mrs. J. E. Jackson Jr. summarized her discussion of point 4 with the statement, "We must identify ourselves with the needs, the sufferings, and the longings of the people of the world and to this end we must discipline ourselves to share our abundance of spiritual and material resources."

Mrs. Le Soxman, panel leader, discussed point 5, which states, "We believe we must understand the issues in the world struggle for peace. Therefore: We will study and discuss with out family and neighbors the issue of peace." She said that it isn't enough just to know the facts. It is necessary to have a program of action.

A worship program, led by Mrs. Roy Bowers, opened the meeting. Mrs. A. H. Bratten, accompanied by Mrs. C. D. Demand, sang "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain" and "I Sought the Lord."

Clothing for the project, "Packets for Peace," was brought by representatives of churches. The clothing will be taken to the church world service center in St. Louis from where it will be shipped to points all over the world.

Inspired Irish Rattle Oklahoma, 27-21

5 Fumbles Plague Sooners; Lattner Stars For Winners

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Notre Dame's inspired Fighting Irish pummeled unbeaten Oklahoma, the nation's No. 4 team, into a fumbling, sputtering victim of a resounding 27-21 upset in a nationally-televised football thriller today.

Thrice overcoming deficits of 7-0, 14-7 and 21-14, the Irish rose to magnificent heights to unleash a 20-point second half surge which crushed the Sooners, a two-touchdown favorite.

The Sooners, who had led the nation in scoring with a 42-point average, were butter-fingered throughout and five times lost the ball on costly fumbles.

Halfback Billy Vessels was brilliant for the Sooners, scoring all three Oklahoma touchdowns—two on superb runs of 62 and 42 and the other on a 28-yard pass from quarterback Eddie Crowder.

But beyond Vessels, Oklahoma was a listing ship torpedoed by a savage Irish line and a whirling dervish halfback, Johnny Lattner, who buzzed into terrific action every time Notre Dame exploited an Oklahoma fumble.

Fullback Neil Worden scored twice for the furious Irish on short smashes, halfback Joe Heap once on a 16-yard pass from quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, and quarterback Tom Garey on a one-foot quarterback sneak.

But it was Lattner who put the sock in the Irish shillelagh, with his ripping ground gains, pass receptions, punting and defensive play.

Buck McPhail, great Oklahoma fullback, contributed 81 yards in 13 tries to the Sooner attack which was slick when it wasn't marred by fumbles. Vessels' two long runs gave him a sparkling 11.4 average with 195 yards in 17 carries.

Irish Mix-Up Attack

Although out-rushed, 313 to 219, the Irish cleverly mixed passes and the efforts of work-horse Lattner, who carried 24 times for 98 yards, to pierce the rugged Oklahoma defense which gave as well as it took it.

The Sooners knew they were in a real battle from the outset when they showed their butter-finger tendency on their first running play. Dan Shannon, a fine Irish defensive player all day, recovered McPhail's bobble and Notre Dame pierced to the Oklahoma four. A backfield in motion penalty stopped the Irish threat.

With less than three minutes of the first quarter left, the Sooners finally produced their first touchdown with lightning quickness. Lattner's poor 20-yard punt went to the Notre Dame 28, on the next play, Crowder — faking magnificently—flipped a pass to Vessels, who was wide open along the sideline and easily cavorted to a touchdown.

The Irish tied the score for the first time at 7-7 with four minutes left until halftime. Ralph Guglielmi's 16-yard shot to Joe Heap capped a 59-yard Irish drive for the touchdown. Heap grabbed the ball on the Sooner five and lunged across with an Oklahoman draped around his ankles.

Vessels Rambles 62 Yards

But once again, two minutes later, the Sooners uncorked a swift scoring strike. Don Brown of Oklahoma recovered Worden's fumble on the Sooner 32. Two plays later, Vessels set sail off his own left tackle from the Sooner 38 and raced 62 yards for a touchdown. He was in the clear by midfield.

That gave Oklahoma 14-7 halftime lead, but the party was only starting.

The Irish took Oklahoma's second half kickoff and barged 74 yards in 15 plays to Oklahoma's 6 before Lattner fumbled and Ray Keller recovered for Oklahoma.

But Notre Dame was not to be denied and a few minutes later were off to their second touchdown when Lattner intercepted Crowder's pass on the Sooner 35 and romped to the seven. A Sooner delaying penalty moved the ball to the one and three plays later Worden smashed over for the touchdown to tie it at 14-14.

Again Vessels took charge for Oklahoma. On the second play after Notre Dame's post-scoring kickoff, Vessels took a pitch-out on Notre Dame's 46 and behind brilliant blocking, scooted around the Irish left end to a touchdown. McPhail and Merrill Green threw tremendous key blocks in the thrilling run which moved Oklahoma ahead 21-14.

Thirty-five seconds after the fourth period opened, Notre Dame had punched across its third touchdown smashing 79 yards in nine plays. Worden bulled over from the three.

Grigg's Fumble Hurts

Larry Grigg fumbled Notre Dame's kickoff and Al Kohanowich recovered for the Irish on Oklahoma's 24. The inspired Lattner raced 17 to the Sooner eight and an Oklahoma offside put the ball on the one. Carey quarterback sneaked across from the one-foot line. This time Arrix's point try was blocked by Carl Allison, but the Irish had the Sooners groggy and trailing 27-21.

Michigan State Rips Weary Indiana, 41-14

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Michigan State's deep and dazzling football horde, No. 1 in Associated Press national ratings, mauled Indiana University's crippled team today, 41-14 for 22 straight victories.

The game was so rough that eight players were thrown out. Indiana lost six. Michigan State two.

Michigan State was astonished to find itself trailing, 7-6, after the first quarter but overwhelmed Indiana the rest of the way by the sheer driving power of its numerous backs.

Halfback Billy Wells put out the early Hoosier fire just as he did last year. He scored two touchdowns in the second quarter, one from 9 yards out and the other from 3.

That 20-7 lead was plenty the rest of the way.

Wells ran 83 yards last year to break a 14-14 halftime tie with the Hoosiers. The Spartans took that game 30-26.

Michigan State, favored by four touchdowns, looked as if it would win by a wider margin in the first few minutes.

UCLA Completely Routs Oregon State, 57-0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (AP)—The unbeaten UCLA football team plastered a 57 to 0 defeat on Oregon State College today and marched on toward the Rose Bowl.

The Bruins, led by halfback Paul Cameron to their eighth straight triumph of the season, now have but one more game and one more foe to beat to win the Rose Bowl assignment for the coast conference.

The foe is their rival across town, Southern California's Trojans, who disposed of Stanford in their unchecked drive today.

UCLA is idle next week, and can settle back and point for USC in their big game Nov. 22. USC must play a resurgent Washington team here next week.

SMU Whips Texas Ags To Stay In Loop Race

DALLAS, Nov. 8—(AP)—Southern Methodist clung to a chance for the Southwest Conference title today by tossing Texas A. & M. from the loop race with a 21-13 win before 42,000 Cotton Bowl customers.

Southern Methodist scored two touchdowns and conversions in the second quarter to take the lead, and was never headed.

Both of the stars of the game—Jerry Norton for the Mustangs and Ray Graves for the Aggies—were out of action when the final gun sounded.

The loss, which gave the Aggies a two-lost, one-win, one-tie conference record, put them out of any chance for the conference diadem. But SMU, loser only to Texas still has a chance.

Extra Points Enable Rice To Nip Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 8 (AP)—LeRoy Fenstemaker, a reserve quarterback who was almost left at home with a twisted ankle, kicked five extra points in a stiff wind to give the Rice Owls a 35-33 edge over the Arkansas Razorbacks today.

After spotting Rice 21 points in the first 20 minutes, the Razorbacks stormed back to match for the invaders' 5 touchdown output but Carl Mazza, Arkansas place kicker, couldn't compete with the wind. Two conversion attempts were blown wide, and a field goal try into the 26 to 36 mile per hour wind in the last 30 seconds fell short by about a foot.

The game meant nothing in the Southwest Conference race. Both teams having already been knocked out of contention. But it was everything a crowd of 14,500 could have asked for.

TCU Spurt Overcomes Wake Forest's Lead

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8—(AP)—Texas Christian University came from behind with three lightning touchdowns in the final quarter today to wallop Wake Forest, 27-9.

Two scores in the space of 15 seconds transformed what had been a rugged, "anybody's ball game" into a pitful rout. Both came with little effort on the part of TCU, one on a blocked punt and the other on an intercepted pass.

Lincoln U. Outclasses Mississippi School, 61-0

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8 (AP)—Lincoln University had more than a field day here today, defeating Jackson College of Jackson, Miss., 61 to 0.

Leo Lewis, 180-pound half-back scored four of the touchdowns, while Marion Smith added two others and converted on seven of his nine attempts.

Jackson got inside the Lincoln 20-yard marker only once, and that with the aid of a penalty. The Mississippi eleven made nine first downs, but Lincoln held them to minus eight yards in scrimmage.

Leahy Calls Irish Upset Team Victory

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy of the wildly happy Notre Dame Irish made it plain to swarms of well-wishers today that it was a "team victory" over heavily-favored Oklahoma.

"Someone asked me what I thought of Johnny Lattner," Leahy said. "I replied that 'Lattner played one of the greatest games of his career for us.' But all the boys played their utmost—it was strictly a team victory."

Lattner, a 19-year-old junior halfback from Chicago who plays on both offensive and defense, showed a packed stadium of 57,000 and a national television audience why he is rated Notre Dame's No. 1 All-America candidate.

In the stunning 27-21 triumph over previously unbeaten Oklahoma, a 14 point favorite, Lattner carried the ball 24 times for 93 yards, a 4.1 average; snared two passes for 46 yards; punted nine times for a 38 yard average and ran back a pass interception 23 yards to set up a touchdown.

"Today's victory," continued the studious and mild-spoken Leahy, "proved a big point to the kids. It is: if they dig in and have the right attitude, nothing is impossible.

No Special Emphasis

"No, we did nothing this week to get their spirit aroused. We at Notre Dame cannot afford to point for a single team. Each team we meet is up for us, and we have to be up for them. Of course, I regard this victory over Oklahoma a very fine one."

Lattner as well as the other Irish were so overjoyed none of them could speak with much intelligence. But that was not true of J. D. Roberts, Oklahoma's 225-pound junior guard.

Roberts was ejected from the game late in the second quarter when Menil Mavraides blocked him from behind. Roberts turned and swung an elbow that caught Menil in the midriff.

While Leahy was being hemmed in by a stream of handshakers in the lockerroom, in walked Roberts. He went right up to Leahy, put out his hand and said: "Coach I want to apologize for what I did out there."

Leahy patted him on the shoulder and offered him kind words.

"Wasn't that a fine gesture?" said Leahy, visibly touched, after Roberts left to carry his apology to Mavraides and the other Notre Dame players in person.

"When I met Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma coach and personal friend of Leahy right after the game," recalled Leahy, "I shook his hand and said: 'Just the luck of the Irish, Bud.' Bud replied: 'I disagree — you just have a great team."

Vessels Draws Praise

Leahy had great praise for all the Sooners but particularly Billy Vessels, senior halfback. Vessels scored all three Oklahoma touchdowns, on a 28-yard pass catch, and runs of 46 and 62 yards, in 17 carries he gained 195 yards.

"They just don't come any better than Vessels," said Leahy.

Wilkinson took the defeat in good fashion.

"We played the best we could," he said. "Notre Dame is equal physically to any squad I've seen. The defeat didn't surprise us too much. We knew it would be a hard fought game."

The Sooners lost the ball five times on fumbles to boost their total of losses in this department to 25 in seven games.

"I can't explain it," said Wilkinson. "It was just one of those days again."

Springfield Nips Cape

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 8 (AP)—Springfield State broke a 6-game losing streak by defeating Cape Girardeau State 7-0 in the final MIAA football game for both teams today.

The victory left Springfield tied with Warrensburg in last place, each with a 1-4 record.

John Batten, Springfield's fullback, scored the touchdown on a short plunge in the second quarter. Ben Koeneman kicked the extra point.

Cape Girardeau made only two first downs, one of them on a penalty.

Missouri Deer Die From Plant Poisoning

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The outbreak of plant poisoning that killed about 85 deer the past two months appears to have been halted by recent heavy frosts.

Biologists of the Conservation Commission believe that the frosts removed the poisonous vegetation, since no deaths by poisoning have been reported for some days. A few reports of dead dear have been received since the first killing frosts, but investigation showed that the deer had been dead for some time previous to the frosts.

Tulsa Crushes Villinova

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 8 (AP)—Villanova's hopes of an unbeaten season and a possible bowl bid were shattered tonight as Tulsa's Hurricanes struck with the speed of wind and rain that swept Skelly Field for a 42-6 victory.

Ole Miss Defeats Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Mississippi handed Houston a dose of its own medicine — a rugged defense —tonight, while taking a tough 6 to 0 victory to protect its undefeated, although twice tied record.

Dogs are color blind, and, to them, all colors look like different degrees of black, white, and gray.

The Navajos of Arizona and New Mexico, now more than 50,000 strong, comprise the largest of the Indian tribes in the U. S. today.

Sports Scraps

WELL—I picked the football Pix the past week just like a lot of people voted. I used the criss-cross pick in a hurry, like many folks voted in the election, starting at the top, jumping down, jumping over and back and forth—results—I picked some and lost some—just like a lot of voters. I can't say I did so well in either picks.

Speaking of football, I witnessed one of the best games the Missouri University has played this season, when they defeated Colorado 26-7. In the rain Missouri looked mighty good, and if they play as good next Saturday in Norman, then Oklahoma Sooners can expect plenty of trouble.

There were plenty of seats in Memorial Stadium—many not turning out because of the weather. But those few people who were in the stands feared to leave after Missouri got started. Any number who sat in my area remarked "This is great. I hate to leave." and others would say, "Sit still friend, you might make the rain stop." So better than 12,000 football fans sat tight for the greatest portion of the game, but began departing after that great 77-yard touchdown gallop by Jim Hook.

Then it practically poured and half of the crowd started for their cars.

SMITH-Cotton has ended a season of victories and defeats. They finished the conference out of the cellar. The losses were tough ones and Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow's boys did the best they could. What more could you ask from a bunch of green football players.

The withdrawal of several boys when the season was more than half over, I personally do not think, hurt the team to any great extent. Maybe the scores might not have been as bad as they were, but I doubt if those who quit could have caused the team to win anyway.

Dow loses two players from his first string, Earl Nold and David Lingle, both of whom are seniors. Both of these boys will be greatly missed, as they are good leaders and have done much for the morale of the team, win or lose.

Dow will have a group of experienced players back for 1953. Their parting words in practice last Thursday made Dow feel he'll have some conditioned boys out for practice when it starts early next September. All promised Coach Dow that they would work hard, train and be ready for action when the season rolls around nine months and two weeks from now.

THE Tiger athletes can now turn their attention to basketball. Some workouts for basketball started two weeks ago under Coach Howard Glavin who is confident he will be able to work up a good squad for Smith-Cotton.

We'll be able to give you more information on the prospects for a cage team as soon as some of the football players begin practicing along with those who have been working out. It will take at least two to four weeks before the elimination of players gets underway.

Jayhawks Miss Charlie Hoag

Bob Reynolds Sparks Huskers To 14-13 Upset Over Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 8 (AP)—Nebraska's furiously battling Cornhuskers getting sparkling duty from Bobby Reynolds, came from behind in the fourth quarter to whip the Kansas Jayhawks, 14 to 13, in a major upset today.

Reynolds, Nebraska's All - America in 1950 but hobbled by injuries until today, kicked two perfect conversions to provide the winning margin. Thus the three-touchdown underdog Cornhuskers spoiled the Jayhawk's homecoming game, played in a cold, drizzling rain.

It was Kansas' second loss in eight games and their second in the Big Seven Conference. Playing without their great Charley Hoag, the Jayhawks were bogged by the inspired Nebraskans most of the day.

The winning touchdown was scored by quarterback Johnny Bordogna on a one-foot keeper play with less than six minutes remaining. Reynolds' conversion was straight between the uprights.

Nebraska threw a chill into the 33,500 partisan fans early in the game. They turned a Kansas fumble into a touchdown five minutes after the opening kickoff. Bordogna scored from the one yard line. Reynolds converted to make the score 7 to 0.

Fumble Helps Kansas

Kansas was unable to make a bid in the first quarter but jumped to a 13-7 halftime advantage as halfback Bob Brandenberry scored from the nine yard line, and another touchdown came on a 7 - yard pass from Jerry Robertson to Paul Leoni. A Nebraska fumble set up the first Kansas touchdown. Don Hess converted after Leoni's touchdown to end the Kansas scoring.

Kansas definitely missed Hoag and linebacker Galen Fiss. But Nebraska's victory today was no fluke. The Cornhuskers captured the ball on a short opening kickoff and kept the pressure on with the exception of Kansas' strong second quarter drive.

Reynolds was just short on a field goal attempt from the 28 a few minutes after the Cornhuskers had forged ahead 7 to 0 on Bordogna's first touchdown.

Kansas' second touchdown came on the only long drive of the day. The Jayhawkers moved 64 yards in 13 plays for the score.

A roughing penalty was costly to Kansas in Nebraska's winning drive in the last quarter. After the teams had exchanged fumbles and Kansas had intercepted a pass, the Cornhuskers settled down to accomplish the biggest upset in the Big Seven this season.

Jayhawks Pile Reynolds

The Cornhuskers' Dan Brown recovered Jerry Robertson's fumble on the 27 and in two plays Reynolds had the ball on the 12. On Bobby's second gallop of 13 yards, he was piled rather heavily by Jayhawks and a penalty moved the ball to the one. From that point Bordogna got his second touchdown.

Nebraska outgained the Kansans 206 yards rushing to 114. Reynolds picked up 81 yards on 19 carries. Cifra had 66 yards on 13 tries.

Fullback Frank Sabatini was Kansas' top ground gainer with 38 yards in 12 rushes.

Reynolds was a constant threat to Kansas' defense. He wheeled 23 yards seconds before the first half ended and returned a punt 36 yards early in the third quarter to get Nebraska out of a hole. Several times the sloppy footing stopped him when he appeared on the way.

Iowa State Pounds Hapless Drake, 55-7

AMES, Ia., Nov. 8 (AP) — Iowa State Cyclones scored touchdowns the first three times they got the ball today and went on to punish their inter-state football rival Drake, 55-7, here.

The Cyclones of the Big Seven Conference, whipped six straight times after winning their season opener, completedly dominated the play. Relying mostly on running plays, they rolled up 396 yards rushing.

Dick Cherpinsky led the scoring with three touchdowns and Emory Eichorn added two more. However, it was Stan Gozzi's 60-yard scoring run with three minutes to play in the game that caused the most excitement.

Joe McClaran, the nation's leading pass catcher, raised his number of receptions to 42 with six completions good for 81 of Drake's 101 passing yards today.

Middies Stun Duke With A 16-6 Upset

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Fred Franco, a stubby senior fullback from Newport, R. I., powered over third and fourth period touchdowns to lead Navy's underdogs to a 16-6 victory over Duke today.

The 5-foot-9, 185-pounder picked up 115 yards rushing, only two yards less than the entire Duke team gained against a rugged Navy defense which entered the game with the nation's eighth best record.

Duke, dropped to 12th in the national Associated Press ratings when Georgia Tech handed it its first defeat last week, nursed a 6-0 halftime lead, thanks to a second period touchdown by halfback Charlie Smith, but the Blue Devils were completely outplayed in the last half.

Cadets Blank Tigers

25-0 Victory Puts MMA In A Tie For CMC Crown

Smith-Cotton's Tigers fell victim of the Missouri Military Academy's accurate passing off the spread formation here Friday night, and bowed, 25-0, to the Colonels. The victory put the Central Missouri Conference into a three-way first place tie with Columbia and Jefferson City, each having only one loss.

The Tigers ended their season with two conference victories and one non-conference win, while in four games they were kept scoreless losing to Jefferson City, Raytown, North Kansas City and in their fifth loss, to Columbia, they scored 13 points.

It wasn't too sad an ending for the Tigers who won two conference tilts, defeating Kemper 6-0 and Hannibal 28-0, while losing three conference games to Columbia, 33-13; Jefferson City, 20-0; and MMA, 25-0 In a non-conference games they beat Marshall, 24-6, lost to Raytown, 40-0, and to North Kansas City, 19-0.

The Tigers won the toss and received. Three plays and Bennett kicked to MMA 31. The Colonels made a first down, carrying the ball on to the Sedalia 48 where a fumble halted the drive. On the punt Dave Lingle received and fumbled, and MMA recovered on the Tiger 23. A penalty put it back on the 38.

The first touchdown came on the third down when O'Neill made a pass to Pinch who carried it over. Pinch kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter Lingle fumbled the ball and Mike Connelly picked it up and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. The try for the extra point was missed.

About midway of the third quarter a beautiful broken field 88-yard gallop by Connelly, who skirted around his right end and cut back through the confused Tiger backfield, went for the Colonels third score. Pinch again missed his kick for the extra point.

The fourth and final tally of the game came about the middle of the last quarter. Sedalia lost the ball on downs on MMA's 39. The Cadets uncorked a flurry of passes which carried the ball to the Tiger 2 yard line only to have a 15 yard penalty called on the Colonels put the ball back to the 17 yard line. A 12 yard pass, O'Neill to Peterson, put the ball on the five yard stripe. A tricky double handoff ended with Clark, the center, carrying it the distance for the touchdown. A try for the extra point failed.

Georgia Tech Routs Cadets To Continue New Orleans March

ATLANTA, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sugar Bowl-bound Georgia Tech rode its vaunted running attack and an improved passing game to a 45-6 victory over Army today despite the loss of All-America hopeful Leon Hardeman in the first quarter.

Billy Teas, Glenn Turner and George Humphreys gave the Cadets no let-up after the squat, tough, Hardeman was sent to the dressing room with a sprained ankle and the Engineers rolled easily through their 22nd straight game without a defeat.

The Engineers, No. 3 team in the nation, made it a rout in the last three quarters scoring almost every time they got their hands on the ball. Tech's defense, second-best in the nation, allowed Army only one long march. Freddie Attaya, Army's best runner and pass snatcher, had to punt out of trouble often.

Attaya, a 180-pound halfback from Picayune, Miss., scored for Army on a 29-yard dash and gave Tech the most trouble on the ground.

Jim Hook Paces Tiger Ground Attack

Missouri Shoves Colorado's Face In The Mud, 27-7

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 8 (AP) — The Missouri Tigers, powered on the attack by Jim Hook, beat the Colorado Buffaloes 27-7 in the mud and rain today to keep their Big Seven Conference record unmarred.

The Tigers took their fourth conference victory of the season before 13,000 shivering and somewhat soaked spectators who saw Don Faurot's men unleash a ground attack which completely smothered the Coloradoan's efforts.

Hubbard Drops 14-7 Decision To Douglass

The Hubbard Tigers were defeated, 14-7, in Columbia Wednesday night in their second meeting of the year with the Douglass High Bulldogs.

Douglass, in reversing the 26-6 drubbing they took from the Tigers earlier this season, held the Tigers to a minus 23 yards rushing for the first three quarters, only one first down and one completed pass.

The Bulldogs picked up two points early in the game when Hubbard's quarterback, Paul Robinson, was tackled in the end zone.

Hubbard went ahead shortly before halftime when Alvin Jones took a short pass from Robinson on the Bulldog 35 and broke away for the score. Thomas Wyatt's conversion made the score, 7-2.

The Bulldogs took the lead again in the third quarter when John Hearn intercepted Robinson's pass on his own 45 and dashed 55 yards for the touchdown. The kick was no good and Douglass led 8-7.

The Bulldogs got their last score in the final quarter when Patrick passed 15 yards to Logan in the end zone. The try for the extra point was fumbled and the final score was 14-7.

Wyoming Rallies To Beat K-State

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 8 (AP)—Wyoming's hard riding Cowboys dug the spurs into Kansas State's down-trodden forces here today to collect a 20 to 7 non-conference victory.

Kansas State held a 7 to 6 halftime lead over the visiting Cowhands but faded badly in the final two stanzas. Efficient Chuck Spaulding, Wyoming tailback, was the top hand in the Wyoming corral as he ramrodded the visitors methodical single-wing attack.

So determined was the Mountain State team's defense in the second half that Kansas State backs found it impossible to penetrate farther than the 45 into Wyoming's territory. Guard Dale Haupt, tackle Wimp Huewgley, and linebacker Bill Hileman had little trouble in riding herd on the Wildcat's split-T offense.

Only an occasional bull-like rush by fullback Dewey Wade and brilliant defensive work by linebacker Ed Pence gave a partisan crowd of 8,000 shivering fans an opportunity to cheer.

The loss was Kansas State's seventh straight since downing Bradley in the season's opener.

Wide end sweeps by Spaulding and Bob Brush, short tosses from Spaulding to end Ken Drewsicke kept Coach Bill Meek's forces in constant trouble this chilly afternoon.

Southern Cal Pounds Stanford By 54-7

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 8 (AP)—Southern California's Trojans, unveiling a stunning, new - found offense to go with their vaunted defense, buried Stanford's Indians under a 54-7 avalanche today before 45,000 fans.

The unbeaten contenders for the Pacific Coast Conference championship and the Rose Bowl charged another lap to their twin objectives with a ground and aerial attack that shattered the defense as well as the morale of Stanford.

It was the most one-sided victory for USC over Stanford since the gridiron rivalry was established in 1905.

Mount Rainier national park has 54 known species of mammals.

Halfback Hook gained 158 yards himself. That was 10 more than all the Coloradoans could come up with.

By its victory, Missouri was assured of at least third place in the conference. Missouri now has four Big Seven victories, but four times it has been beaten by non-conference teams.

The game today was full of Missouri fumbles. There were four of them, and each time the Tigers lost the ball. But despite breaks, the Coloradoans mustered scoring punch only in the third quarter.

The Buffaloes' touchdown opportunity came on one of the Missouri fumbles. Right tackle Bob Morton recovered Tony Scardino's muff on Missouri's 22-yard line and three plays later Carroll Hardy, on a double-reverse, sped 18 yards for the lone Colorado touchdown.

Missouri already had scored two touchdowns, one in the second quarter, and the other soon after the third chapter opened.

MU Pass Play Clicks

Don Faurot's Tigers drove 65 yards for the first touchdown with Bill Rowekamp and Nick Carras figuring strongly in the attack. The climax came with a short pass from Hook to Rowekamp for the score just before the half ended.

Rowekamp broke off the right side of his line in the third quarter for the second Tiger touchdown. It came after one Tiger threat had been stopped only a few minutes earlier on Colorado's 7-yard line. The Tigers set up Paul Fuchs for an attempt at a field goal, but the slippery ball got out of control.

The most spectacular run of the day came in the fourth quarter. Hook, with the Missourians backed up deep in their territory, suddenly broke into the clear on a pitch-out from Scardino. He sidestepped two Coloradoans, then, with only Buffalo safety man Larry Horine ahead of him, he neatly faked his way into the open for a 77 - yard touchdown run.

Buffaloes Block Punt

Rain had started falling hard in the third period. Only a few minutes before, the Coloradoans had threatened by recovering a blocked Tiger kick.

Missouri exploded again in the waning minutes. The Tigers had been thrown for a 10 - yard loss and were on the Buffaloes' 35-yard marker when it happened.

Carras went off left tackle on a handoff for 32 yards, then on the next play, with three of four Coloradoans hanging on, he bowled his way across into pay dirt.

Missouri's Bill Fessler, except for a blocked kick, would have outbooted Colorado's Zack Jordan, who heads the Big Seven in that department.

Fessler, on four kicks, averaged slightly better than 47 yards, Jordan, on 10 boots, did a little better than 41 yards. The blocked kick, however, cut Fessler down to a 37.8 average.

Gremlins Set For Season With Tall 5

The Sacred Heart Gremlins basketball squad is looking forward to another successful season on the hardwoods after a two game warmup. From all indications they appear to be one of the teams to beat in their conference again this year.

They are led by Jim Fall, whose fancy scoring attracted much attention last year. He appears to be headed for another good year and will be aided by John Siefner and Dick Stohr, both of whom have been hitting the basket with deadly accuracy. Rounding out the Gremlin varsity are Robert Welliver, a good ball handler and rebounder, Bill Bennett, the tallest player on the squad, Pat Ryan, good ball handler and shot man, and Jimmy Dick, who saw some action last year with the Gremlins, a rugged scorer and rebounder.

The Gremlins have one of their tallest teams and also the heaviest. Although handicapped by lack of experience, Coach Palmer Nichols who is in his fourth year at the school, is optimistic and predicts, as the season goes along, the team will steadily improve.

2 Games This Week

The Gremlins will participate in three tournaments this year and the junior team will participate in the junior tournament along with the regular schedule of games. Tuesday the Gremlins meet Smithton at Smithton and on Friday meet Hughesville on the Sacred Heart Court.

The B team has been hard at work and is steadily working into the Gremlin pattern of play. This group is captained by Jack Coffey, who is playing well. Other members are: Don Cook, Firmen Boul, George Bishop, Gene Burke and Pearly Jett. Freshmen members are McKee, Matea, Rouchka, Mosier, Martin and Racunass.

Rev. A. Migoni is the athletic director and arranges the athletic program for the school. A recent activity of the school was a rules interpretation clinic for coaches and referees under the direction of J. E. Noel, secretary of the State Athletic Activities Association.

Valley Upsets Jewell, 27-13, For MCAU Title

LIBERTY (AP)—Missouri Valley won the Missouri Collegiate Athletic Union's football championship Friday night, the eighth time in nine years, by defeating William Jewell 27 to 13.

Missouri Valley scored a touchdown in the first period and added another in the second and led all the way.

The first touchdown resulted from recovering on a blocked punt on the William Jewell 12-yard line. The second was set up by J. R. Scates' 44-yard pass to Bob Bailey. Left halfback Bill Perrin then scored from the one-yard line.

William Jewell scored its touchdowns in the third period. Al Conway passed 16 yards to Don Welch in the end zone for the first one. A few minutes later, Welch took Conway's 27-yard pass and raced 20 yards for another TD. Jim Happy converted after the latter marker.

In the fourth period, Missouri Valley scored in seven plays after intercepting a pass on the William Jewell 16. Another pass interception soon gave Missouri Valley its fourth touchdown. Halfback Benny McAllister scored both on short plunges. Gary Grabosch made good on three of his four tries for the extra point.

Omaha Smothers Central, 60-6

FAYETTE (AP)— Omaha University's football team breezed to a 60 to 6 victory over Central College of Fayette Friday night.

Omaha recovered fumbles to pave the way for two touchdowns in the first period. From there on, the visitors increased their lead steadily. Omaha led 33-0 at the half.

Omaha scored three of its touchdowns on forward passes and four on running plays. Halfbacks Bob Rose and Jerry Welling scored two each. The other markers were credited to halfbacks Jerry Tannahill, Adsel Schmidt, Jerry Ziehe, Jerry Bahensky and end Don Maseman.

Schmidt and Harry Johnson each kicked three points after touchdown.

Central did not score until the last period. Then J. C. Butler took a 54-yard pass from Ron Fiedler and raced ten yards to a touchdown.

Texas Recovers Late To Overcome Baylor

WACO, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP)—Texas rolled 74 magnificent yards against the clock today to beat Baylor's battling Bears 35-33 in one of the wildest of Southwest Conference football games.

There were 39 seconds left as hammering Dick Ochoa, the stupendous Texas fullback, smashed across from the Baylor one-yard line for the touchdown that kept Texas undefeated in the Southwest Conference race and eliminated Baylor from championship consideration.

Kirksville Batters Rolla Miners, 52-19

ROLLA, Mo., Nov. 8 (AP) — The Northeast Missouri State Bulldogs overwhelmed the Missouri School of Mines today, scoring in every quarter for a 52-19 victory.

Quarterback Ed Bender scored three times for the Kirksville school and halfbacks D. Austin and Don Healey each added two other touchdowns.

Keith Smith made two Rolla scores. The final touchdown by the Miners came on a pass from Dick Hampel to end Walter Smith.

The MIAA game was part of the homecoming celebration by the Miners.

Dog Show Draws Crowd of Canines And Their Owners

Big dogs, little dogs, short dogs, long dogs, fat dogs, thin dogs, dogs with long tails, dogs with no tails, dogs—dogs—dogs—and kids formed the big pooch parade sponsored by Ivan Berry Feed Store.

The parade, with about 60 dogs and an equal number of youngsters, went from Ivan Berry's down Second to Osage, Osage to Main, Main to Kentucky and Kentucky to the Market Square, where the dogs were judged—with Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors as the judge.

There were 13 classes and awards were given the winners.

Five pounds of dog food went to the smallest dog—and there was four times as much dog food as there was dog—the tiny pup weighed one pound, two and one half ounces.

It was a big parade and pedigreed pups to the common cur—and it didn't make any difference—the cur stood just as good a chance on getting a prize—and—believe it or not—there were no dog fights—not even over the blue ribbons and the dog food.

Conservation Chief Very Pessimistic Over Quail Crop

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Mel Steen, chief of the Conservation Commission's Fish and Game division, is pessimistic about Missouri's quail crop this year. With only a week to go before the traditional November 10 opening on the state's favorite game bird, Steen said today:

"We have had numerous inquiries as to why the bag limit was reduced from ten to eight this year. There are several good reasons but the best one is that we are not finding a normal crop of quail.

"Conditions vary across Missouri, with some regions showing up fairly well and others not so good. Taking the state as a whole, however, I cannot be happy over the outlook.

"I don't mean to say the situation is desperate, but it certainly is below average. I am definitely pessimistic, not only over the effect of our severe drought upon the quail, but also because of the serious fire hazard it has created.

"I sure hope it starts to rain soon," he concluded.

Washington Trips Cal; Heinrich Steals Show

SEATTLE, Nov. 8 (AP)—An alert defense and the daring, mix-'em-up quarterbacking of Don Heinrich earned the Huskies of Washington a surprise 22-7 triumph today over California's fumble-plagued Bears in a Pacific Coast Conference football game.

Losing their third straight decision this season, the Bears contributed to their own defeat by fumbling away opportunities. The most costly was a fumble when California was poised just three yards from a second quarter touchdown that would have tied the score or put them ahead.

The crowd of 49,000 was treated to a scoring explosion in the opening quarter when Washington tallied twice and California once.

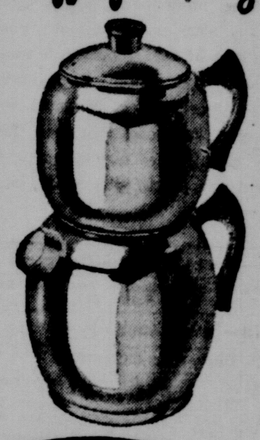

THANKS!

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the voters of Pettis County for electing me as their assessor, and to my many friends who worked in my behalf, I am deeply grateful.

New Denominational Film In Showing Tonite at Immanuel

A service at 7:30 p. m. today at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, Fourth and Vermont, will feature a film produced by the denomination and entitled, "More For Peace." The showing of the film marks the beginning of a four week stewardship emphasis period at Immanuel Church.

This film is the third produced by the denomination for the purpose of education in stewardship and evangelism. The second film, produced by the Evangelical and Reformed Church last year, bore the title, "A Wonderful Life", and employed background material from Sedalia.

Troopers Rope, Tie, De-Tusk, Nose Ring Hog

Motorists on north highway 65 near the city limits were astonished about 9 p. m. Friday when they saw Sgt. W. S. Barton and Trooper Earl Gregory walking a large boar hog up the highway. The hog is being held for the owner who must contact the Highway Patrol and identify it.

The hog had been chasing a horse, then made its way through a fence out on the highway. The patrol was notified and Sgt. Barton went to the scene to investigate and was soon joined by Trooper Gregory. The fun began when the two officers gave a short surveillance of the situation.

One thing for sure, the boar looked mean. It had long tusks, weighed in the neighborhood of 300 pounds, and it was ready for attack—at least it looked that way. A long rope was borrowed from the Howard Construction Co., nearby. Then came the problem of getting it cornered without anybody getting hurt.

A small shed back in a field was used to "shoo" the hog into. Then Sgt. Barton succeeded in getting a rope around a front leg, after much manipulation. The hog was pulled to the door and held tight while he got another rope around a back leg. The fun really began at this point.

The door was opened and the hog was led out with one officer on one rope and the other on the other, leading it up the road to the Carl Walter farm just north of the city limits. The hog was placed in another shed where a painful operation was conducted with Sgt. Barton doing a little practicing of dentistry on the two tusks. They were removed. Then the hog was ringed—a ring placed in the nose—and it was released. His fighting days were over, at least that was the verdict of the patrol—they hoped.

It appeared as if the animal might have been running wild for some time, however, it could have been lost from a cattle truck, or run off from someone's farm. Anyone missing such a hog can contact Sgt. Barton and claim it.

Teachers Attend State Convention; Pupils' Holiday

Sedalia teachers attended the Missouri State Teachers Convention held in Kansas City Thursday and Friday, Nov. 6 and 7, and school children received a holiday from classes.

Delegates who went to Kansas City Wednesday were Mrs. Gertrude Roe, Miss Ella Dean Brereton, Miss Florence Hert, Miss Gwendolyn Tuck, John Pope and C. H. Coock.

An outstanding address was given by a speaker of international repute, Mrs. Sarah Caldwell of Akron, O., on "Education in International Understanding—A Further Look."

The speaker is well qualified to discuss the subject since she has much first hand information gained through association with teachers, educators and even parents and children of Norway, Sweden, England and France, during the past months and subsequent visits as a representative of the National Educational Association. Mrs. Caldwell is the president of the National Education Association and a class-room teacher. Immediately after her address at a class room teachers luncheon she flew to New York City from where she left by plane on a non-stop flight to Paris, France, to attend an international education conference.

Missouri's contribution to international education is a pledge of funds for the schooling of 1,300 Near East children for one year through UNESCA. The Sedalia teachers will take part in this program.

Other outstanding features of the state convention were an address by Hal Boyle, correspondent and columnist, and The Hour of Charm, all girl orchestra under the direction of Phil Spitalny.

PHOTOGRAPHIC MEMORY—Mailmen in Belton, Mo., really know the people on their routes. An air-mail letter addressed to photographer Sam Feeback, in Belton, made the cross-country trip from Los Angeles in the normal time despite the unusual address. However, to be sure mail you send is received, postal officials suggest you use a more conventional method of addressing letters. All postmen don't have photographic memories.

Air of Bragging Over U.S. Aid Loses Friends in Europe

By HAL BOYLE

ROME (AP)—If there is anything an American cannot stand, it is to be disliked.

And the feeling he is disliked now abroad ruins the visit of many a tourist to Europe.

"You know, they really don't like us over here," one tourist tells another, and adds virtuously: "After all we did for them, too — I just can't understand it."

It is this attitude, of course, this air of bragging look - at - all - we -did - for - you, that is sure to win contemptuous dislike wherever and whenever it is displayed. The ordinary European doesn't like to be regarded as an object of charity; he does not regard Uncle Sam's roving nephews as philanthropists, and in any case he is unwilling to drop dead of gratitude for anybody.

The best way to win friends and influence people in Europe is to avoid taking personal credit for the Marshall Plan, and, if the subject even is mentioned, look surprise and say, "the Marshall Plan? What is it?"

This will endear you forever to all Europeans within hearing. Most of them are weary of explaining why, despite all the good old American dollars poured so generously into this country, it still looks slightly shabier than the Garden of Eden.

In Italy, as elsewhere in Europe, the Marshall Plan comes in for a lot of ribbing. As we passed a hugh apartment project on the outskirts of Rome, our Italian guide explained it was being built with Marshall Plan funds and added:

"No one with hiccups is allowed to move in — for fear he will jar the walls down."

Actually, the average American tourist's feeling he is disliked abroad is generally exaggerated, except in Communist areas. There he is not only disliked; he is actively hated.

You can feel this visible hatred, and it makes you uneasy and depressed, because what can you do about it? Nothing. It gives you a kind of brief hopeless loneliness, to be hated in this unreasoning way, and it takes some of the luster from your vacation

But with this disturbing exception, Frances and I have encountered no widespread or general animosty against Americans.

The friendliness with which you are greeted in Europe is measured in exact ratio to your behavior, as it should be. Knowing only a single Italian word—"Grazie," which means "thank you"—we traveled happily throughout Italy and met nothing but helpful kindness all the way.

You can have a good time in any land if you take the trouble to learn that one warm word of phrase in its language which allows you to tell a man in his own tongue you appreciate the courtesies he extends you, a stranger.

Absentee Vote Makes Little Change Locally

Schwabe Gains 115 In Race Most Watched

Pettis County's absentee ballots were counted Friday and had little bearing on the outcome of the general election, except in the race between Congressman Morgan Moulder and former Congressman Max Schwabe in the new 11th District. Moulder lost on the absentee ballots by 115 votes in this county, but the effect on the district race will not be known until all counties have reported.

The race between Jerry Trotter, Democrat, and Clyde Swafford, Republican, was changed little, Trotter on the unofficial count had a 329 vote lead over Swafford, who picked up 83 votes on the absentee count, so Trotter still owns a 246 majority.

Gen. Eisenhower led in the absentee ballots which indicated a decided scratching of the voters. Eisenhower polled 519 of the absentee votes against Adlai E. Stevenson, who polled 312 votes, giving the largest county majority of 207 absentee votes.

The absentee ballots were counted by two teams: Fred F. Wesner and Julian H. Bagby, Democrats, and Earl Crawford and Willis Jabas, Republicans; and William F. Brown and D. Kelly Scruton, Democrats, and A. H. Wilks and W. D. Smith, Republicans. County Clerk James Green and Deputy Clerk Lee Brandt tallied.

BIRTHDAY SUITS—Oldest and newest dress uniforms of the United States Marine Corps are modeled by two Marines at the Capitol, in Washington, as part of the Corps' celebration of its founding 177 years ago on Nov, 10. One vestige of the old uniform remains in token form in the tight collar of the blouse. It was originally a leather neck-stock, which protected the wearer from sword cuts, and gave to the Corps their nickname of "Leathernecks."

Guess Ike Will Give Gen. Gruenther Much Bigger Job Than Has

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED POWERS IN EUROPE (AP) —American officers at this headquarters were guessing today that President - elect Eisenhower will give Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther a bigger job than he has—chief of staff to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander in Europe.

Virtually the only one here not speculating on it is Gen. Gruenther himself. He is saying nothing.

His subordinates, however, think he is slated for one of three top jobs—chairman of the U. S joint chiefs of staff, now held by Gen. Omar N. Bradley; US Army chief of staff, held by Gen. J. Lawton Collins; or Gen. Mark Clark's job in Japan.

Eisenhower picked Gruenther, a top-ranking administrator, as his chief of staff to help him set up SHAPE nearly two years ago.

Tito Favors Talk With Eisenhower

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Premier Marshal Tito said today he would be "very satisfied" to get together with U. S. President-elect Eisenhower for a discussion of mutual political and defense matters.

The Yugoslav chief of state made his remarks in response to a newsman's questions. There has been no indication from either Belgrade or Washington that an official visit would be made by either of the two leaders to the other's capital, although Tito has tentatively accepted an invitation from British Prime Minister Winston Churchill to visit Britain. No date has yet been set for that trip.

In a brief interview during a recess in the sixth Congress of the Yugoslav Communist Party which has been in session here since Sunday, Tito voiced his confidence that the United States under Eisenhower's administration will "continue the policy of consolidation of the peace."

Evening Service Series Begins At Fifth Street

The Rev. D. Russell Lytle, minister of the Windsor Methodist Church and recently elected secretary of evangelism of the Southwest Missouri Conference of the Methodist Church, has been secured as the preacher for a series of evening services beginning Sunday, Nov. 9, at the Fifth Street Methodist Church.

Mr. Lytle is a native of the state of Virginia and a graduate of Southwest Missouri State College and of Garrett Biblical Institute, Northwestern University. He has served as minister of the North Prairie Methodist Church in Zion, Ill., and of St. Luke Methodist Church of Springfield. He also served as associate pastor of Grace Methodist Church of Springfield before his assignment to the church at Windsor.

He has served in youth camps and institutes as a special speaker and as a director in several schools of evangelism throughout the state.

In the services which will be held each evening through Friday, Nov. 14, Mr. Lytle will deliver the sermon. His final sermon will be given on Sunday evening, Nov. 16.

Mrs. Ray Hunt, choir director, will have charge of the special music for the series and Mrs. Lee F. Soxman, wife of the local church minister, will direct the congregational signing.

Women, Broom In Hand, Can Accomplish Much

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Never underestimate a woman with a broom.

U. S. women, voting in the greatest numbers in history, held the balance of power in the recent election. For the first time, women outnumbered men on voting registers.

Old-time politicians, analyzing the results of one of the greatest election sweeps in generations, agreed on one point—keep an eye on the girls from now on.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower predicted on the eve of election that "morally indignant women" would sweep the Republican party to victory. Through television, they sat in at the political conventions last summer, chose up sides, rolled up their sleeves and went to work.

You've been seeing them and hearing them for the last few weeks as they handed out campaign buttons and literature, rang doorbells, conducted telephone campaigns, organized local clubs and threw their full efforts into getting out the vote. The cry of most of them was:

"Vote as you please, but please vote!"

The activities of the majority of U. S. women who registered their power at the polls transcended party lines. Non-partisan organizations such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the DAR and even the Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls threw the weight of their membership of millions into the drive to awaken the responsibilities of citizenship.

Among the women of widely different political background who took part in the campaign were such divergent personalities as Mrs. Wendell Willkie, widow of the Republican standard bearer of 1940; Oveta Culp Hobby, wartime head of the WAC; Mrs. Fiorella LaGuardia, widow of New York's long-time mayor; Mrs. Robert Patterson, widow of the former secretary of war; Sara Delano Roosevelt, young granddaughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Another woman whose power was felt in the campaign—in a different way—was quiet, smiling Mamie Eisenhower, who knew how to exchange homey woman-talk with feminine constituents across the country. She made no campaign speeches but won the hearts of many of her countrywomen simply by being at her husband's side, as a good wife should.

Radford Says Russia Navy Not Capable Of Hindering U.S.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A reporter asked Adm. Arthur W. Radford today if the Russian navy is capable of interfering with United Nations naval operations around Korea and got a brief "no" in reply.

Radford, who is U. S. commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, was questioned at a news conference. He did not comment further in his reply. The U. S. State Department said yesterday it will reject a Soviet protest against the U. N. "Sea defense zone" around Korea.

Radford is making a three-day visit to India as part of an east Asian tour.

Polio Decreases Through Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — It looks like Missouri's 1952 polio epidemic is on the downhill slide at last. For the first time in months, fewer cases were reported last week than in the same week a year ago.

The state health division reported today 33 new cases were listed last week, bringing the total for the year to 1,061. In the same week of 1951, 46 new polio cases were reported, making the year's total 641.

Week before last, Missouri had 39 new cases. The peak year was 1949, with 1,319. That record is not expected to be reached this year.

OPTIMIST WEEK • Nov. 9th–15th

PRECIOUS BY THE PAILFUL—Typical victims of the worst drought in Kansas are George Clark, left, of Colony, and W. D. Howard, of Garden City. To feed their 59 head of cattle, they have to go to the nearest available water supply point, buy as much water as their truck can carry and then pour it by hand into field tanks scattered over the Howard ranch. Also typical of the drought's impact on the domestic front is the picture, right, of Mrs. George Lesco, of Thayer, pumping a bucket of water from her cistern for cooking. The water is hauled from Chanute, 15 miles away, in a 1150-gallon truck. It costs $6 a load. Many Thayer housewives do the family laundry only once every two weeks because of the water shortage.

Democrat Pick-Ups

Odds and Ends By News Staff

The six year old had gone to kindergarten last year and took a little lunch of cookies or something along with him — so when he asked his mother if he could take a lunch to school his mother thought it was something remembered from the kindergarten days. "All right," she said, "I'll fix you a lunch. What do you want me to fix?"

"An apple and two soda crackers", said the child.

The mother put an apple and two soda crackers in a sack and the child started off to school.

At noon he didn't come home and the mother sent his older brother after him — a short time later here came the brother with the small boy crying like his heart would break. The brother had found him in the lunch room — he was going to stay at school for lunch.

"What were you going to eat?" asked the mother. "Not just the apple and crackers?"

"I didn't have the apple", sobbed the child, "I gave it to the teacher."

And the mother is wondering what people would have thought if they had seen her son sitting there in the lunch room with nothing to eat but two little soda crackers.

But the little boy is happier now — she went to a meeting one day after that and the youngster had an opportunity to eat lunch in the lunch room and a cherished dream came true. — H. L.

The fourth birthday anniversary was a big event — all kinds of presents. It was just like Christmas —and then, to finish the day mommie and daddy took the little girl to the show.

The first picture had quite a bit of fighting in it and she wanted to go home, but she was talked into staying until the next picture — and was she ever glad. It had a lot of singing and she just loved it — in fact — it was 11 o'clock and she wanted to stay and see it over again.

"That" she said, "Is what I want to do when I grow up — sing like that."

But father evidently did not share her enthusiasm over the singing — "Oh, no you don't", he said, "We'll have no singers like that in this family."

But the little girl still thinks she has her career picked out — now if she just has the voice to go with the idea she will be all set. — H. L.

"I've got to get a haircut today," said a small boy to a neighbor woman.

"Do you know why I've got to get a haircut?" he asked.

The woman didn't know so the little boy went on to explain — "Tomorrow I've got to go to Sunday school and I've got to get a haircut cause it's my time to pass the plate." — H. L.

"Have you voted yet?" asked a feminine voice of the woman who picked up the telephone election day?

The woman immediately knew it was her new daughter-in-law just trying to fool her — so she made some silly answer talking in a funny voice through her nose.

The woman at the other end of the wire laughed, said thank you and hung up.

But later the woman found out it was not her new daughter-in-law at all — it really was someone from the poles and she's blushing yet. — H. L.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Would Like To Journey Around World

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — President Truman has fairly definite ideas as to what he wants to do when he leaves the White House, but they may be hampered by problems at home.

The chief thing he hankers for after January 20 is a leisurely trip around the world. He wants to go to Europe and return the visit of the heads of states who have called on him, also attend the coronation of Britain's new Queen Elizabeth on June 5.

However, there are a couple of complications. One is the health of his 90-year-old mother-in-law, Mrs. David Wallace. The public hasn't generally realized it, but Mrs. Wallace has been living with the President and Mrs. Truman during most of their sojourn in the White House, and Mrs. Truman has been quite firm that she would not leave her mother for a long trip out of the United States as long as she is in poor health.

Another, though lesser, complication is finances. The President has not been able to acquire any monetary backlog during his seven years in office, and some way will have to be found to finance the trip.

One or two embassies have already discussed whether he could be entertained as an official visitor at the expense of their governments, even though by that time he will have lost his official status.

Mr. Truman wants to visit India, Japan, and various Asiatic countires and some consideration has been given to the idea of his making a series of speeches on the peaceful goals of the American people.

There has been so much Russian propaganda to the contrary, abetted in part by rash statements by American Generals, that a good part of the world is sold on the idea that the United States wants war. State Department officials believe that a man of Mr. Truman's simplicity and directness might carry considerable impact in nullifying this propaganda. They have even been considering the idea of his making a whistle - stop tour abroad in favor of peace.

The President has also told friends that after his trip he would like to do some lecturing at a University and some writing on history. If so, he would follow the precedent of William Howard Taft, who became Professor of Law at Yale after he left the White House.

Hints have also been dropped around the Capital that Truman should be appointed a delegate to the United Nations.

However, no matter what he does, the President is genuinely looking forward to enjoying himself after he retires to private life.

Exit The Trumanites

Here's what some of the Truman cabinet members are going to do, come January 20.

Dean Acheson will go back to his law firm. Financially hard up, he might have retired earlier except that he was under fire. . . President Truman has promised his secretary of the treasury, John Snyder, to help find him a job. Snyder was offered a job with the Bank of America four years ago, but turned it down.. . . .Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin will return to his Boston law practice, perhaps enter politics again. . . . Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer is returning to Cincinnati. He had planned some time ago to resign from the cabinet come what may. . . . Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett will return to his Wall Street firm. Lovett has been in government now ever since the war days, a Assistant Secretary of War, Undersecretary of State, Undersecretary of Defense, and now Secretary of Defense. A Republican, he has served steadily in Democratic cabinets. . . .Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson is looking for something in private industry. The first nonpolitical career postmaster general, thousands of postal employees will celebrate his exit.

Longer Draft Period

Gen. Mark Clark has sent the Pentagon an ultimatum that more replacements must be rushed to Korea or he will keep his front-line soldiers past their rotation date.

What Clark objects to is releasing combat veterans and replacing them with green G.I.s at revolving - door speed. After a man is well trained for combat, Clark complains, he has to be sent home. That was why he boosted the number of points required for rotation from 36 to 38, only to be overruled by secretary of the Army Pace.

However, Clark is now threatening to hang onto his eligible returnees another month or two, despite Pace's order — unless the rate of replacements is increased.

This points up an Army - wide complaint that the manpower turnover is so rapid the Army scarcely finishes training new men before they are released and the Army has to begin all over. As a result, the Defense Department probably will ask the new Congress next year to lengthen the time draftees must serve.

Trans-Atlantic Pipeline

Adm. Robert B. Carney, U. S. Commander in the Mediterranean, is following the current trend of some generals to be diplomats and politicians. He took it upon himself to negotiate with Italy for bases recently, without bothering to consult Washington. The State Department promptly slapped him down, reminded him that he is an admiral, not secretary of state. . . . Prime Minister Churchill tried to phone Britain's A-Bomb genius, Sir William Penny, the other day. After repeated delays, the Prime Minister demanded that Dr. Penny be put on the phone "at once." "Sorry, sir," said his secretary, "but the telephone company says Dr. Penny's number is too secret to give anyone.". . . .Gen Matt Ridgway has warned the French commander of NATO ground forces, Gen. Alphonse Juin, to keep his mouth shut about Spain or give up his command. The talkative Frenchman has been sounding off about bringing Spain into the Western Defense Alliance. . . .Italian Prime Minister De Gasperi has warned that European trade has slumped so alarmingly a depression is likely — unless the West acts. De Gasperi has urged a full-scale international economic conference to decide what to do. . . . The British are so far ahead of schedule on jet production that they are selling jet fighters on the commercial market. Brazil has already contracted to buy 70 meteor jets, a second - string fighter in the 500 - mile - per - hour class.

Congressman Threatened

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has a hot story which it hasn't told the public. One of its top embers, Democrat Francis Walter of Pennsylvania, has received two threats on his life.

Shortly before Walter opened the Los Angeles hearings on subversive activities in September, a letter came to his office warning that his life would be in danger if he showed up for the hearings.

Posted in Los Angeles with no return address, the letter states: "You have done enough harm to innocent people in California. If you come back you will suffer the consequences.

Walter turned the threatening note over to the FBI and went to California anyhow.

In Chicago, Walter got an even blunter warning.

"If you do anything more," said an anonymous phone caller, "You'll never get out of town alive."

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shallit

THE STORY: Al Kemmer, owner of High Hill Lodge, has been murdered and Eddie Fields, an entertainer, seriously wounded by an ax wielder at the plush summer resort. The violence seems somehow connected with the discovery of a gangland murder in the vicinity. Dan searches Al's bungalow, where he finds Midge Burnett, a girl of whom Dan is fond, and Leo Ritchie, the resort "odb-man," already searching it. Dan also is suspicious of C. O. Griscomb, a neighbor, who hates trespassers. Dan goes to Griscomb's home and from concealment he watches Griscomb receive what looks like a payoff from a man in a blue serge suit.

• • •

XVIII

GRISCOMB came across the clearing, the rifle under his arm. No anger in his face. No excitement. A calm, unflickering face, a rifleman's face.

The dog came springing into the trail. He ran along it—he knew this route—he went on past me.

The dog swerved around. He came crashing through the brush, his yelp exultant.

"Griscomb! Griscomb!" I yelled. Startle him, sound like a friend, make him stop, wonder. "Get your dog off me!"

I fought up against the flailing paws. I made a grab at the dog's muzzle—but he wasn't trying to bite.

Griscomb burst into the path, rifle in the air. "Your dog plays rough," I said, calmly as I could.

Blue Serge came running up. 'That's him!"

The rifle gleamed at me. I tried not to see it. "I had a devil of a time finding your place," I said, dabbing at the dog's head. His paws were on my shoulders. He was shielding me from Griscomb's gun.

"He followed me way over here," Blue Serge yammered.

"Yes," I said. "I could hardly keep up with you."

Griscomb's eyes held me calmly. "What are you doing here?" The gun was pointed at my middle. I noticed suddenly that it had a tube above the barrel—a telescopic sight.

"Walk out there," Griscomb said. He swung his gun an inch toward the clearing, then promptly back to me.

It was going to be that way, then—guns and prisoners and curt commands, cowboy stuff. "Get down, Buster," I said, shoving the monster off my shoulders. I pushed through the brush, out into the clearing.

I stopped and turned. "What's all this gun stuff for, Griscomb? I'm a neighbor. I came over for a visit."

"Go over to the house," Griscomb said, nothing happening in his face, nothing in those queer, lusterless eyes.

"Sit down." He motioned to an upholstered chair. I sat down. Loose springs slid and poked me.

"Mr. Griscomb, I got a lot of things to do," said Blue Serge from the doorway. "Okay if I take off?"

"Certainly," Griscomb said.

"I'd hate you to have any trouble, just on account of me going. You sure you'll be all right?"

"He's sure!" I burst out. "Scram."

Blue Serge had a crisis in the doorway. His face went through a dozen decisions about attacking me, and they all lost out.

"Take care of him!" he gritted, and stamped out across the porch.

Griscomb looked after him. He waited till the sound of footsteps faded out. Then he turned his dull, dead man's eyes on me again, and spoke: "Now I think we can quickly dispose of you."

• • •

"WHAT did you come here for, young man?" I loved the way he said it—calm, reasonable talking sense. He couldn't slide from that to trigger-pulling. . . .

"You know what happened at High Hill this morning, don't you?" I said.

"I do not."

"Somebody came there early this morning and killed Mr. Kemmer."

He reacted—actually—his eyelids flared. But only for an instant. His voice was placid. "I hadn't heard that."

How in the world could I tag him as Al's murderer, this stone, this frozen fish?

"The reason I came here," I said, "is I thought perhaps you might give us a clue—perhaps you saw something suspicious, some stranger passing through here."

He shook his head. He took a step and let himself down on a straight-backed chair facing me.

"Who's that fellow who was just here?" I pressed him.

"He is not a stranger."

• • •

"GRISCOMB, let's talk frankly for a minute," I said, leaning forward, trying to get behind his mask, if there was anything behind it. "I can understand why somebody might hate the summer visitors. They make a lot of noise, they spoon in the woods, they drop their Kleenex all over the place. But what's this gun business all about?"

"There are signs warning trespassers to stay out or suffer the consequences," he said untroubledly.

"Don't you think it might be easier on your nerves and everybody else's to just sort of be good neighbors?"

"My ancestors," he announced, "won this land with their blood—"

"I've heard about your ancestors."

His eyes narrowed slightly "Young man, have you ever heard of the Wyoming Massacre?"

"Can't say I—"

"I thought not. You people come in here knowing nothing, having no roots here, trampling over everything as if this were some city park, some dirty New York city park." (I'm from Philadelphia, myself, but I let it ride.)

"Wyoming was a peaceful Pennsylvania town, busy building a civilization in the wilderness, harming no one, and these bloodthirsty villains came through and killed every man, woman and child they could find.

"The British and their Indian hirelings," he said.

Third of Series on School Survey—

Favor Requirements, Standards For Instructing Student Teachers

This is the third in a series of seven articles presented by the Democrat in an effort to acquaint the public with the recommendations contained in a report issued recently by the Missouri Citizens Commission for the study of Education, entitled "Missouri Plans for Better Schools."

The report has been presented to the State Board of Education, which appointed the commission, and some of the recommendations may plan an important part in any new school legislation enacted next year.

In its third topic chapter dealing with instruction in public schools, the report states that the State Board of Education should establish requirements and standards for the instruction of student teachers in Missouri institutions of higher learning.

The commission expresses its opinion that since the state is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of free schools, it should also be responsible for seeing that the quality of the teachers within that system be maintained at a high level.

This can be done, it continues, by arranging for that proper standards for the training of teachers are observed in all Missouri institutions which engage in educating teachers.

During the school year of 1950-51, only 51 per cent of the elementary teachers in the state had four years of college work, the commission reports. It further opines that "it can hardly be expected that a teacher, either in the elementary or secondary school, can be adequately prepared with less than the baccalureate degree.

"Elementary teaching in a highly complicated process," the report states, "in which it is necessary for the teacher not only to be well - trained in a wide range of subject matter, but also to have a thorough knowledge of child growth and development and of the most effective methods of teaching."

On the basis of this conviction, the commission recommends that each local district should, as rapidly as possible, place in each classroom a teacher who has at least four years of appropriate college training and the other requisites of good teaching in his or her particular teaching assignment.

Another recommendation made to improve instruction is that the promotion of pupils should be based on sound principles of child development rather than on arbitrary standards of achievement. The report does not expand on what arbitrary standards have been employed in the past, but it does state that promotion policies need continuous study.

It also asks that kindergartens be established in all or practically all districts of adequate size and that those districts should be required to levy an additional tax for such a purpose.

It sees the need for the extension of the study of arts, crafts, vocational and industrial education, along with homemaking. It emphasizes the necessity for increased attention in elementary schools to techniques of teaching reading.

The charging of fees in high schools for one or more of the subjects in the regular curriculum is condemned by the commission. It reports that in more than one half of the state's high schools, pupils are now paying fees for instruction in such courses as art, music, science, commerce, and shop work.

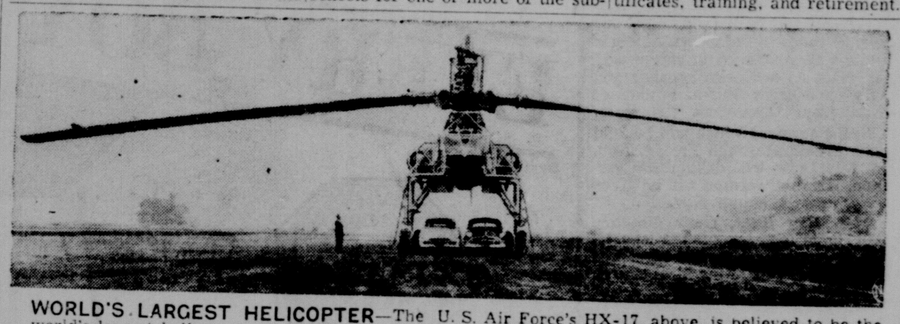

"The charging of fees seems to be inconsistent with the theory of free public education," it states in its report.

Linking the size of the school district with the type of instruction which can be expected in that district, the commission frowns upon the creation of reorganized districts which are too small. It asks that definite standards should be set up to discourage such reorganization.

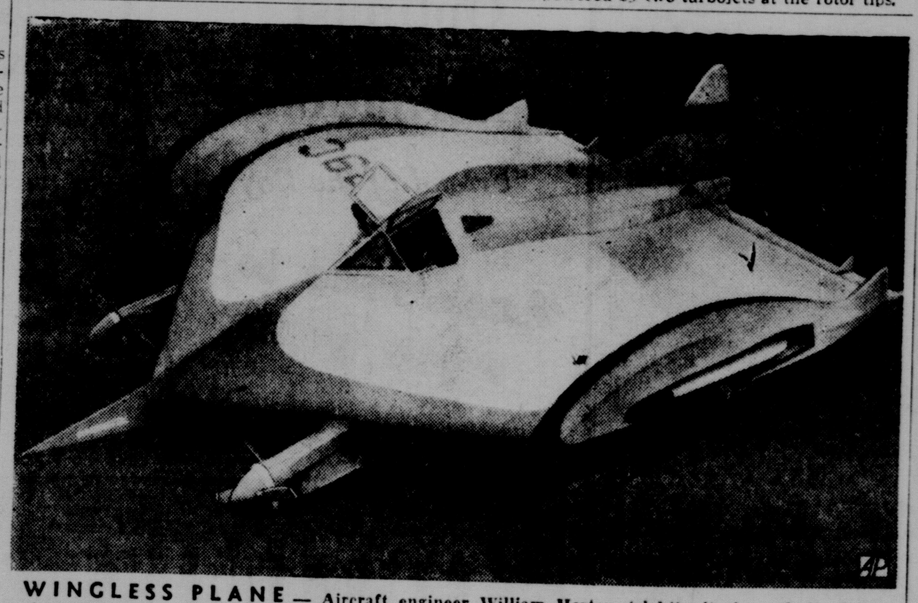

On the other hand, the commission reports that replies from questionnaires from school board presidents and from county and district school officials indicate that the people desire school districts of fairly large size in terms of number of pupils. The people also seem to favor the control of the district by a local board of education which in turn selects a superintendent of schools, thereby eliminating the elective nature of that office.

The commission states the need for continued study of teaching methods but realizes the inability of small schools to conduct such research. It therefore places the responsibility for such research on the larger schools and teacher education institutions, with the small schools participating whenever they can.

WORLD'S LARGEST HELICOPTER—The U. S. Air Force's HX-17, above, is believed to be the world's largest helicopter. Designed by the Hughes Aircraft Company at Culver City, Calif., the mammoth machine dwarfs two full-size cars which rest beneath it. An experimental heavy-lift machine, with rotor blades extending 125 feet from tip to tip, and with an over-all height of 30 feet, the HX-17 is the forerunner of cargo-carrying helicopters which will deliver heavy military cargo in areas inaccessible to conventional aircraft. It's powered by two turbojets at the rotor tips.

WINGLESS PLANE — Aircraft engineer William Horton (right) sits in cockpit of his virtually wingless plane during test in Santa Ana, Calif., when it rose 10 feet off runway. Horton, who spent $50,000 building craft, says it's designed to prevent air surrounding it in flight from mixing with air flowing over its lifting contour. With Horton is co-pilot Gordon Boyer.

Richard Barstow Mos Versatile Man in Show Business Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Award for the most versatile man in show business goes to Richard Barstow. He's at home whether he's directing a chorus of glamor girls, elephants or automobiles.

This Barstow is quite a guy. He directed everything from Noel Coward's "Tonight at 8:30" with Gertrude Lawrence to "Hellzapoppin'" with Olsen and Johnson. Or from an ice ballet to a St. Louis fashion show with symphony orchestra and 300 models.

Take a look at his current schedule. He's finishing up dances for "The Girl Next Door," a movie with June Haver and Dan Dailey. Then he goes to New York to stage a new revue, "Between Two Rivers" with Dorothy Shay. Then to Cuba to convert the Barnum and Bailey-Ringling Bros. circus to a one-ring show.

Oh, yes, he also directs TV shows for comics like Eddie Cantor and writes and stages night club acts for Janet Blair, Hildegarde, etc. "The only thing I haven't done in show business is an aquacade," said Barstow, who looked as though he were dreaming up a swimming routine.

How did he get started on such a versatile career?

"I was the last of seven children and my father died when I was a few weeks old," he recalled. "We needed the money, so my four sisters and I started an act when I was 6. We began in amateur nights but worked up to vaudeville. One by One, my sisters got married and left the act. One sister and I were left, and we toured the world, studying dancing under the greatest teachers."

Since Barstow has directed everything theatrical except swimmers, I asked him which subject he preferred.

"Elephants in the circus," he replied. "You've heard the stories that they never forget. Well, they don't."

Missouri History---

Hunters Once Found Game Plentiful On State Prairie

Missourians have not always hunted and trapped for sport. Back in the days when most of the men were hunters, some followed the chase the year around. Like Indians in dress and manners, they spent months in the forests living and sleeping in the open air. Settlers hunted food for their families.

Most of the settlers moving into the hinterland of Missouri followed the valleys of the large rivers, where forest game and furbearers in abundance lived in the stands of timber. When the wave of settlement spread into the wide prairie lands, the white men, killing for meat and pelts, drove out the larger species of animals or exterminated them.

Black bears were numerous in Missouri until 1831. Buffalo herds which once roamed as far east as the Mississippi, and panthers, which were fairly common in wooded sections, are long since extinct in Missouri. Indians killed one of the last great concentrations of elk in Holt county in 1841, when 500 were slaughtered, while the antelope once found by settlers as far east as Lawrence, Johnson and Nodaway counties had disappeared by 1840.

By 1850, farmers had broken up the prairie, drained marshes, and further destroyed the forests, but Missourians still took wildlife for granted. Few small boys grew up without knowing how to go out with a gun, perhaps an old flintlock, and bring home "a mess of squirrels." Boys learned to bring down hawks, wild geese, turkeys, eagles, and to shoot foxes, wildcats, coons, opossums, skunks, and deer. When a deer fell, the hunter took off the hide, hung the carcass in a tree to cool, and later salted and dried the meat.

Missouri had few or no laws to protect wildlife until 8174. The first sound and comprehensive game law enacted in the state was passed March 10, 1905, but too late to save the formerly numerous beaver, otter, deer, prairie chickens, and ruffed grouse. Then public sentiment shifted from mild concern to genuine alarm over the steady decrease in game. But it was more than 30 years before a constitutional amendment, which took effect July 1, 1937, created the permanent Conservation Commission.

By the State Historical Society of Missouri at Columbia Floyd C. Shoemaker, secretary.

Texas, Louisiana, California and Oklahoma, in that order, are the largest producers of natural gas in the United States.

Child Welfare Worker Tells BPW Club of Child Problems

Miss Lena Rhue, welfare field supervisor of the State Division of Public Health and Welfare, Jefferson City, was the guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday evening at Bothwell Hotel.

Taking for her subject "Children and Their Needs," Miss Rhur explained the total program which is divided into two classifications —assistance and child welfare. Any child in need of services is eligible for child welfare assistance, the speaker said, and there are the public and private agencies functioning.

Since our children are our hopes for the future, Miss Rhue said, it does behoove us to help them to have a better and happier life and at the same time enable them to become well adjusted citizens.

There is a welfare office in every county in the State of Missouri with 2,000 people in Pettis County, who are receiving grants of some type. To a great extent child delinquency can be attributed to unhappiness due to neglect of the parents' first duty to the home, Mrs. Rhue said. In attempting to alleviate a bad home situation always think in terms of the child, she said, partciularly that of being over critical of the child. First study the home situation and work at al ltimes possible from his standpoint.

Miss Rhue explained how in cases where a family situation could not be worked out, the child was placed in a temporary boarding home where he was taught the fundamental principals of the home life and adjustment.

The problem child, Mrs. Rhue explained, can often be attributed to a mother's fear of the child growing up or a mother's inability to think in terms of the child. Fifteen percent of the children who appear to be sub-normal mentally are found to be handicapped especially in vision and hearing.

In closing, Miss Rhue stressed the dire need in the state for children's workers and explained the requirements necessary to enter this field.

The meeting was presented by the education and vocational committee with Miss Freda Mueller, chairman. She was assisted by the following committee members:

Miss Hazel Barnett, Mrs. Atwell Bohling, Miss Leta Bradney, Mrs. John Craig, Mrs. James Durley, Miss Margaret Ferguson, Miss Marie Fritz, Mrs. Jacquetta Prowell, Mrs. Lulu Scotten, Mrs. Marie Spendiff and Mrs. Frank Wagner.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, first vice president, in the absence of Mrs. Everett White.

Pepp singing was under the direction of Miss Irene Ritchey with Miss Doris Stott as accompanist.

A short musical program was presented by Miss Alphonsine Miles, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Salveter. Her selections were "Oh Lovely Night" by Ronald; "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" by Tate and, as an encore, "If You Feel Like Singing — Sing."

Miss Anna Belle Reid and Mrs. John W. Gottschamer were introduced as new members of the club.

Guests at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Al Miles, Miss Roseanne Dugan, Mrs. J. B. Banks, Miss Alma Wise and Mrs. Frank Jones.

Abraham Lincoln delivered his immortal Gettysburg Address on Nov. 19, 1863.

LIVE P.T.O. MEANS SMOOTHER HARVESTING WITH A Massey-Harris 33 or 44

Every P.T.O. field job moves along more smoothly with a new Independent Power-Take-Off 33 or 44. When a slug starts into your combine or chopper, you just pull the lever . . . your tractor stops but the P.T.O. shaft supplies constant power to clean out the overload. When you're ready to move on, just let out the lever. With a new 33 or 44 you never have to hand-clean "wadded-up" machines.

Stop in or call us at 5035 . . . Let us show you the new, efficient Massey-Harris Live P.T.O.

DROUGHT PARCHES KANSAS FIELDS AND WATER HOLES—Ground parched until it breaks up into thousands of cracks, a cattle water hole with only a fraction of its normal content—and a sky with no sign of a rain cloud tell the story of the worst drought in Kansas history. This photo was taken between Yates Center and Eureka, but it is typical. Worst hit are six counties in the southeastern part of the state. Farmers have to haul water to livestock, for household uses and for drinking. Trucks containing every type of water-holding device fill the roads. Thousands of beef cattle have been sold off prematurely because there isn't enough feed and water. Fear of fire is a continuous nightmare in small towns without water systems.
